THE OBJECTS AND METHODS OF THE SCHOOL.

On the 20th of December, 1864, it was enacted by the General Assembly of Indiana, "that there shall be established and maintained, as hereinafter provided, a State Normal School, the object of which shall be the preparation of teachers for teaching in the common schools of Indiana."

This statute defines clearly the object of the State Normal School. Its sole function is the preparation of teachers for the common schools of the State. The Normal School is not a school for general culture, for its own sake. It is a professional school. Its central idea is to confer that knowledge which constitutes the science of education, and to train students in the art of instruction and school management. Its leading aim is to give that knowledge and training which belong as distinctively to the teacher as does the science of medicine to the physician, or the science of law to the legal practitioner. A school is a normal school, in the sense contemplated in the statute quoted, only when it makes these its controlling ends. To hold the State Normal School to its one object as a professional institution, only those are admitted to its privileges who intend to prepare for the work of the school-room. To the work of preparing teachers for the common schools of the State, the Normal School has, during the nineteen years of its existence, addressed its entire energies.

By what means does it seek to give this preparation? The answer may be made as follows:

I. It seeks to lead the pupil to acquire a thorough, scientific knowledge of the branches he is to teach. This knowledge is the prime condition of any success in the school-room. The teacher's instruction in a given subject can never rise above his own knowledge of that subject. No knowledge of methods of instruction, however excellent in themselves—no fund of general information, however accurate and extensive, can be substituted for the specific and thorough knowledge of the subjects which the individual is required to teach. He must at least know these. General culture and information will greatly augment the teaching power of one already possessing the requisite knowledge of what is to be taught, as will also correct methods of instruction; but these are auxiliaries to, not substitutes for, a definite understanding of the matter of instruction. The teacher must himself know that which the pupils are expected to acquire under his tuition. His mastery of these subjects must be thorough and complete. Other things equal, he is the best teacher of a subject who has the most thorough and complete knowledge of it. Not only must the teacher be conversant with the facts of the various branches he teaches, but he must know these in their logical connections. It is only thus that they form a subject of study. The facts of arithmetic, for example, constitute the science of arithmetic only when viewed in the necessary relations that exist among the facts themselves. Knowledge proper is to be distinguished from mere information. The latter is the knowledge of facts, as facts, i. e., in their isolation; the former is the comprehension of facts in their organic connections. Information is not education. A mass of information systematized by thinking it under the relations which inhere among the facts and principles themselves becomes knowledge, and as such has great educational value. The instruction in the various branches of study in the common schools must result in this latter form of knowledge. This alone confers real power upon the pupil. Many persons, under the usual tests, show a fair degree of familiarity with the subject-matter of this or that branch of learning; but when required to think the subject as a system, independent of a text-book treating it they are found to possess no adequate, coherent knowledge of it. It is a necessary part of a teacher's knowledge that he shall have thought the facts of the various subjects of instruction into a coherent and systematic whole. While such a knowledge as this is the only true one for any educational purpose, it is preëminently the teacher's view. Nothing less than this orderly knowledge of the subject will suffice for the teacher. As the primary requirement, then, the Normal School seeks to ground its students thoroughly in the knowledge of the branches required to be taught in the common schools of the State.

II. As a second element of a teacher's preparation for the work of the school-room, the Normal School endeavors to give its students a knowledge of the nature, processes, laws and products of the human mind. Mind is the subject of the educating process. The teacher is in the presence of from thirty-five to fifty children from five to six hours per day. It is his function, as teacher, to train and develop each of these individual minds; to strengthen them in every correct power and habit of thought; to purify and chasten their feelings, and to present such motives as will tend to the discarding of all bad habits of body and mind, and to the formation of good ones. To train a faculty or power of the mind it must be exercised upon its proper objects, and in accordance with the laws of its nature. Exercise is the condition of mental growth.

But mental activity, without the guidance of a rational end, and not in obedience to the proper laws of the faculty exercised, may produce a distorted and abnormal growth.

The human mind, in its natural and leading forms of activity, with their conditions, laws and products, bears a relation to the art of teaching similar to that of the bodily nature and functions to the physician's art. For the teacher to attempt to pursue his art, with all its complicated and responsible duties, without a clear knowledge of the processes and laws of mind, is hardly less irrational than would be the practice of medicine without an adequate knowledge of the principal organs of the body and their laws and functions.

Moreover, the teacher's methods of instruction, if based upon reasons or principles, and not derived from mere authority and experiment, must spring largely from the study of mind. The mind is to be educated. The instruments of the process are the various subjects of study. These two, then—mind and matter of study—must be the main factors in a rational or scientific method of instruction. In this thought the study of mind in all its manifestations occupies a prominent place in the course of study in the Normal School. The effort is made to study mind itself, in its conditions, activities, laws and results. Too often the study of mental science is made the mere learning of text, without verification by appeal to individual and personal mental experience. The true method of pursuing this subject is by introspection, using the text mainly as a guide. For the teacher's purpose, it must be chiefly a direct study of mind. It is only in this way that the study of mental science can become an efficient aid to the teacher.

It must ever be admitted and emphasized that knowledge of the subject is of the first importance to whoever would teach the subject. The teacher must know that which he is to teach. Nevertheless, it is probably true that more failures in the school-room are due to ignorance of child nature than to any other cause. The chief weakness in the public schools to-day is on the side of mind, not ignorance of subjects. Knowledge of motives, conditions, processes and laws of mind activity is the key to scientific instruction, and it is not held by the majority of teachers.

III. But the teacher's preparation must include more than the knowledge of the branches to be taught, and the nature and operations of mind. It is all important that the teacher have clear and correct ideas as to the true ends of the educating process. His theory of education, i. e., his views concerning the main results to be accompanied by the process, will go far toward determining the spirit and methods of the school in all its work. If the teacher regards the informing of the mind as his chief work, this view will manifest itself in all he does. If to him the prevailing aim of the school is to lead the pupil to acquire a large fund of systematic knowledge, receiving such training of the intellectual faculties as the acquisition of this incidentally and necessarily gives, this theory will, in a great degree, determine the character of the work done in the school. If the teacher holds information and systematized knowledge, valuable and important as they are, to be necessary means only, and the quickening and unfolding of all the intellectual, moral and spiritual faculties to be the abiding aims of the school, the instruction given and the discipline administered will look to this end. The Normal School holds that character and power are above learning. While in nowise underestimating or depreciating the value of knowledge, it yet teaches that the ultimate outcome of all school work must be the individual with trained powers of intellect, acute moral perceptions and sentiments, a will trained in the habit of obedience to the right and a reverential spirit. The man or woman rounded and trained in every natural capacity must be the aim of the school. The correct theory of the school is sought to be imparted by a study of the training schools in their actual work, by an extended study of the history and science of education, and by the method of performing the daily class-work in all the departments.

IV. If in a fair degree fitted by natural aptitude for the work of instructing and managing a school, a person trained in a thorough knowledge of the subjects he is to teach, possessing a theoretical knowledge of mental activities and laws, and grounded in a correct theory of education, will ultimately succeed in the school-room. The problem now is how to reduce the period of actual experiment to the minimum. The person who has made the three-fold preparation indicated is prepared for two phases of work which should precede his taking charge of a school, namely, (1) the study of methods of instruction, and (2) a period of actual practice, under competent direction, in instructing and governing schools. To these two lines of work the Normal School gives great prominence. It has a department of Methods and a system of Training or Practice schools. Both of these are under the supervision and direction of the teacher of methods. In the first sufficient instruction is given to enable the student to employ his knowledge of the subject and of mind in determining a rational method of procedure for teaching the subject. Special attention is given to methods of primary instruction, since in the lower grades the foundations of knowledge are laid, and the immature mind has less power to seize and assimilate knowledge not skillfully presented. The schools for observation and practice include all grades below the High School. They are in charge of competent critic teachers, and the instruction given in them is in harmony with the theories of education taught in the Normal School. Students are required to observe and interpret the work of the practice schools during the time they are receiving instruction in methods, and, in the later stages of the course of instruction, they are required to spend a considerable period in actual teaching in each of these schools, under the criticism of both the regular critic teacher and the teacher of methods. They are thus enabled to leave the school possessing a fair degree of skill in the instruction and management of classes attained by actual experience.

The State Normal School, then, undertakes to fulfill the purpose of its organization by (1) leading the student to acquire a thorough knowledge of the branches required to be taught, the professional aspects of the subject receiving attention during this study; (2) giving a comprehensive knowledge of mind; (3) the study of the history and science of education, and (4) a system of instruction in methods, and an extended period of observation and actual teaching in the training schools connected with the Institution.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

There are three classes of students for whom instruction should be provided.

The first and largest class includes those who wish to prepare for teaching in the common schools in country, town or city, and who enter the Normal School having the minimum amount of scholarship and but little of that mental discipline which results from a full and efficient course of school instruction. These must learn both the matter they are to teach, and the method of teaching it, in the Normal School. The school must afford them both academic and professional instruction.

Another class of students for whom provision is made is composed of those who have completed the course of study in our high schools and academies, and of those who may not possess the scholarship of the high school graduate, but who are teachers of age and experience, and, because of their greater maturity, are able to keep pace with these graduates.

The third class includes those who have graduated from the colleges and universities of the State, and who seek that professional training which shall fit them to assume the duties of superintendents and principals of high schools.

The Normal School aims to give all of these instruction which shall secure the following results :

First. A thorough and scientific knowledge of the common school branches.

Second. A knowledge of mind as the subject of the educating process.

Third. A knowledge of methods of teaching the common school branches, determined (a) by the nature of the subject taught and the purpose for which it is taught, and (b) by the laws of mind activity in the different stages of mental growth. In other words a knowledge of methods based upon a knowledge of mind, and a scientific knowledge of each subject taught in the schools.

Fourth. A knowledge of the actual school, gained by intelligent and systematic observation under the immediate direction of the teacher of methods, of the work done in the eight grades of the training school. Every exercise must be interpreted by the student.

Fifth. A knowledge of teaching in these grades, gained by the actual teaching of classes under criticism of the teacher of methods and of the critic teachers.

Sixth. A theoretical knowledge of school government and of the organization and classification of schools, gained by a study of the application of the principles of psychology to these, and by the discussion of hypothetical cases.

Seventh. A practical knowledge of school discipline gained (a) by being subject to school discipline as a student in the Normal School, and studying the subject from the standpoint of a pupil, and (b) by taking entire control of the discipline and instruction of one of the grades in the training schools for such time as is necessary to test the student's power to govern and teach a school.

Eighth. A knowledge of the science and history of education.

COURSE FOR GRADUATES OF HIGH SCHOOLS.

Two Years.

Graduates of commissioned high schools receive a credit of one year, and are thus enabled to complete the English Course in two years. They are admitted without examination to the highest class entering at the beginning of a term. Such students are required to take all the professional subjects of the course, and to make a thorough study of the common branches, so far as this may be found necessary. They are permitted to carry an extra study throughout the course, if found able to do this profitably, and are relieved from studying such of the more advanced branches as have been pursued in the high school and of which they are found to possess a thorough knowledge. To high school graduates who complete this course certificates of graduation and diplomas are granted on the same conditions as to those requiring the full time.

The following are the high schools of the State whose graduates are entitled to a year's credit on the course of study in the Normal School :

SPECIAL COURSE FOR HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES.

(One Year.)

Many cities can not maintain a city training school for educating their own teachers. Only two cities in the State support such schools. The Normal School Board has organized a course of training for the graduates of high schools, continuing through one year, which gives such preparation for teaching in the primary and intermediate grades as can be made in so short a time.

It is designed to have this course in the State Normal School supply the place of training schools for those cities that do not have training schools of their own.

This will be a strictly professional course, in which a large portion of the time of the student will be spent in observation and teaching in the practice schools connected with the Institution.

Those who complete this course will not be entitled to the diploma granted by the school.

The purpose of the course is to relieve the school officers of cities from the necessity they feel of employing, as teachers, the graduates of their high schools who have had no training in teaching.

A year's training in the Normal School will add more to their efficiency as teachers than would several years' practice in teaching, and the schools will be supplied with a much better class of teachers.

During the past year a large number of high school graduates have been pursuing one or the other of the courses of study provided by the Normal School for such graduates. This indicates a growing conviction that, in addition to a knowledge of the subjects of instruction, the teacher should have a thorough training in the history, science and art of his profession.

DEPARTMENTS.

The departments of the school are as follows:

Department of History and Science of Education.

Department of Grammar, Composition and Literature.

Department of Natural Science.

Department of Reading.

Department of History.

Department of Geography.

Department of Mathematics.

Department of Latin.

Department of Mental Science and Methods.

Department of Music.

Department of Drawing and Penmanship.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION.

---

LEGISLATION.

Article VIII, Section 1, of the Constitution of Indiana declares that—

“Knowledge and learning generally diffused throughout a community being essential to the preservation of a free government, it shall be the duty of the General Assembly to encourage, by all suitable means, moral, intellectual, scientific and agricultural improvement, and to provide by law for a general and uniform system of common schools, wherein tuition shall be without charge, and equally open to all.”

On the 20th of December, 1864, it was enacted by the General Assembly, “That there shall be established and maintained, as hereinafter provided, a State Normal School, the object of which shall be the preparation of teachers for teaching in the common schools of Indiana.”

This act provided for the location and erection of a building, the appointment of a Board of Trustees, the admission of students, the organization of the school, and the annual appropriation of funds for tuition and expenses.

DISCIPLINE OF THE SCHOOL.

The end of all school government and discipline, intelligently conceived and administered, is the rational self-control and self-direction of the pupil. This is to be the outcome in the pupil. The effort is made to derive all rules of government from the inherent nature and purposes of the organization itself. This is the true basis of such rules; from this alone they derive their authority, and not from the teacher's will and utterance. A system of school regulations which aims only at arbitrary restraint, without leading the pupil to order his conduct by clearly conceived principles of right doing, lacks the most essential educative qualities. The formation of correct habits of thought and action—the development of worthy character—these are the true aims of school discipline. The discipline of the Normal School is administered in this general thought and spirit. Students are led to see the reasonableness of the requirements made of them, so that their obedience may be intelligent and educative. In respect of discipline, as in all other particulars, the Normal School seeks to make itself in fact what it must be by definition—a model school.

RELATION TO THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

Graduates of the Indiana State Normal School, who have completed the English and Latin course in that institution, may receive the degree of B. L. or B. S. from the Indiana University on the completion of a special course of two years, supplementary to the course of the Normal School.

Graduates of the University may receive the diploma of the Normal School on the completion of a one year's course in this institution. This time is devoted entirely to professional study preparatory to teaching.

EXPENSES.

Board, including fuel and light, can be had in good families at $3.00 to $4.00 per week, according to the quality of accommodations. There are good facilities for self-boarding, and for club-boarding in the city, at a cost of $2.50 to $3.00 per week. Nearly all the students board in clubs, thus reducing their entire expenses to $2.50 per week for good accommodations. The expenses of many do not exceed $2.00 per week. The only charge made by the school is a janitor's fee of $1.00 per term.

The necessary expenses for a year in the Normal School will not vary greatly from the following estimate :

Room rent, 39 weeks at 75 cents . . . . .	$29 25
Board, 39 weeks at $1.75 . . . . .	68 25
Fuel and lights . . . . .	5 00
Washing and incidentals. . . . .	20 00
Janitor's fee, $1 per term . . . . .	3 00
Books and stationery . . . . .	10 00
Total . . . . .	$135 50
Necessary expenses for one term of 13 weeks. . . . .	45 00

WHAT TO DO ON ARRIVING.

Any one coming as a student, and unacquainted in the city, can report at the Normal building at any reasonable hour, where some one will be found to give needed information in regard to boarding. Students arriving by night trains will find suitable accommodations at the Terre Haute House and the National House, which are on the line of the street railway.

ATTENTION

Is called to the following statements:

First. Tuition is free.

Second. The instruction is thorough and organic.

Third. The discipline is such as to lead the pupil to self-government and the formation of a worthy character.

Fourth. Two good literary societies are in successful operation.

Fifth. Students are required to observe until they can accurately report and interpret the meaning of each exercise, and to practice teaching, under criticism, until they can plan and conduct recitations and manage classes efficiently.

Sixth. Capable undergraduates obtain good situations at good salaries.

Seventh. Graduates are commanding from $50 to $175 per month.

Eighth. THE DIPLOMA OF THE NORMAL SCHOOL IS, BY LAW OF THE STATE, EQUIVALENT TO A STATE CERTIFICATE, RELIEVING THE HOLDER FROM COUNTY EXAMINATIONS.

Ninth. No student will be admitted to the Normal School who does not intend, in good faith, to qualify himself or herself to teach in the public schools of the State.

Tenth. It is important that every student expecting to attend the Normal School should be present the first day of the term, that all may be examined at once and classified. Those who enter a few days after the beginning of the term take, in their examination, the time of teachers which should be given to instruction. Be present, ready for work, on the first day of the term.

Eleventh. Every student admitted will be required to give satisfactory evidence of good moral character and of fair intellectual ability. The personal appearance and conduct of the individual, together with a letter from some responsible citizen to whom the bearer is personally known, will be taken as evidence of character.

Twelfth. After reasonable trial, if a student shows lack of ability or application, or of moral character, to achieve fair success as a teacher, he or she will be advised to withdraw from the school and seek some other vocation.

Thirteenth. Those desiring other information respecting the Normal School than that contained in this register are requested to address State Normal School, Terre, Haute, Ind.

CERTIFICATES AND DIPLOMAS.

Section 4557 of the school law of Indiana reads as follows: "The Board of Trustees is authorized to grant, from time to time, certificates of proficiency to such teachers as shall have completed any of the prescribed courses of study, and whose moral character and disciplinary relations to the school shall be satisfactory. At the expiration of two years after graduation, satisfactory evidence of professional ability to instruct and manage a school having been received, they shall be entitled to diplomas appropriate to such professional degrees as the Trustees shall confer upon them, which diploma shall be considered sufficient evidence of qualification to teach in any of the schools of this State."

By a rule of the Board of Trustees, satisfactory evidence of twelve months' successful experience in teaching, after completing the course of study, entitles the graduate to the diploma of the Institution.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

Students, if females, must be sixteen years of age; if males, eighteen. They must possess good moral character and average intellectual ability. If residents of Indiana, they must promise to teach, if practicable, in the common schools of the State a period equal to twice that spent as pupils in the Normal School. They must pass a fair examination in reading, writing, spelling, geography, English grammar, and arithmetic through percentage.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Students should bring with them such standard text-books as they have for the purpose of reference.

A good dictionary is indispensable.

The following text-books are in use in the school:

“Reed and Kellogg's Grammar, Whitney's Grammar, Clark's Practical Rhetoric, Humke's School Reading, Academic Dictionary, Doyle's History of the United States, Andrew's Manual of the Constitution, Johnston's American Politics, Myers' General History, Newby's Number Science, Brooks' Geometry and Trigonometry, Milne's Algebra, Harkness' Latin Grammar, Harkness' Cæsar and Cicero, Harkness' Latin Composition, Virgil's Æneid, Bennett's Easy Latin Stories, Six Weeks' Preparation for Reading Cæsar, Sandison's Theory of the School, Dewey's Psychology, Rosenkranz's Philosophy of Education, Martin's Human Body (large edition), Le Conte's Geology, Cooley's New Elementary Chemistry, Avery's Physics, Gray's Manual, Arthur, Barnes and Coulter's Plant Dissection, Colton's Practical Zoology, Jordan's Manual of Vertebrates, Seiler's Notes on Mathematical Geography, Guiot's Physical Geography, Barnes' Complete Geography (Indiana edition).”

Dr. Wm. T. Harris, five lectures on "The Philosophy of History."

ADVANCED STANDING BY EXAMINATION.

The Normal School is authorized to give a formal credit on its course only for graduation from a commissioned high school or from a college or university. All persons not holding diplomas from such institutions, and wishing to be excused from the study of any subjects in the course of instruction, are required to pass thorough and satisfactory examinations in such subjects. Effort is made to give every person full credit for all knowledge of subjects possessed on entering, and to assist him to advance as rapidly and to graduate as soon as is consistent with a thorough teacher's knowledge of the subjects studied.

SPECIAL CLASSES IN SPRING TERM.

Many teachers of experience and good scholarship desire to spend one term in reviewing certain subjects which they are required to teach, or in pursuing certain professional studies, and yet are precluded from taking an extended course of study in any institution. Some of these are the leading teachers in their respective counties. They are prevented from pursuing a systematic course of study by being under the necessity of teaching during the fall and winter. To such persons of mature years, experience in teaching, who hold a high grade of license, and who enter the Normal School for the spring term only, the privilege of taking a special course will be accorded. For the benefit of these, special classes will be organized, if necessary, in Mental Science, Methods, Observation in Training Schools, Science of Education, U. S. History, Algebra and Physiology.

THE BURNING OF THE NORMAL BUILDING.

On the morning of the 9th of April, 1888, the building of the State Normal School was almost totally destroyed by fire. It cost originally $189,000. The addition of the extensive heating apparatus some years later, the furnishing throughout, the library of about 4,000 volumes, the apparatus, museum, etc., swell the entire cost to between two hundred and two hundred and twenty five thousand dollars. Of this splendid equipment almost nothing was left. Only the walls of the structure were left standing; the library, apparatus, museum and furniture were all lost. Notwithstanding this blow, the school resumed its work on the morning after the fire, and all classes were regularly conducted 'till the year ended.

Through the courtesy of Centenary Methodist and other churches of the city, and the kindness of private citizens, ample assembly and recitation room was placed at the disposal of the Normal School till the second floor of the city high school building could be put into condition to be occupied, which required about three weeks. The board of trustees of the city schools of Terre Haute bore the expense of this, and offered the Normal School the use of these quarters until such time as more permanent accommodations could be provided. This generous tender of ample room in which to continue its work was accepted by the Normal School.

The work of rebuilding is to be done with the least possible delay. The city of Terre Haute has recognized fully its obligation under the law and the contract with the State, to bear one-half the expense of repairing the structure. The city council has appropriated $25,000 to aid the work, additional appropriations will be made as it advances, and it is probable that only a few months will elapse before the site of the former building will be occupied by a new one in nowise less perfectly adapted to the growing needs of the institution. Until such time the Normal School will conduct all its work in the quarters now occupied in the city high school building.
