INDIANA STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The act of the General Assembly which created the State Normal School was approved December 20, 1865. This act defined the object of the school to be "the preparation of teachers for teaching in the common schools of Indiana," provided for the appointment of a board of trustees, the location of the buildings, the organization of a training school, the adoption of courses of study, and created the Normal School fund for the maintenance of the institution. The act further required the trustees to locate the school at the town or city of the State that should obligate itself to give the largest amount in cash or buildings and grounds to secure the school. The city of Terre Haute was the only place to offer any inducements to secure the institution. A tract of land three hundred feet square near the center of the city valued at $25,000, and $50,000 in cash were offered, and the city agreed to maintain forever one-half the necessary expense of keeping the buildings and grounds in repair. This liberal offer was accepted and the construction of the building was begun. Aided by subsequent appropriations, the trustees were able to complete certain portions of the building, and the school was opened January 6, 1870. The professional training of teachers was an experiment in Indiana, and the institution began its work without the confidence and united support of the people of the State.

Twenty-three students were present on the opening day, and this number increased to forty by the end of the term. The attendance has grown steadily since the opening of the school, and during the year ending June 13, 1913, 2611 different students were enrolled. In 1887 the school had become so large that it was necessary for the high school of Terre Haute, which had occupied a portion of the building since its completion, to find new quarters, thus leaving the entire building of three stories to be occupied by the Normal School alone.

On the forenoon of April 9, 1888, the building and its contents were almost totally destroyed by fire. Only the foundations were left unimpaired; the library, furniture, apparatus and everything in the building—the accumulation of eighteen years—were consumed. Terre Haute provided temporary quarters for the school, and, under the contract to maintain one-half the expense of repairs to the buildings and grounds, promptly gave $50,000 in cash with which to begin the work of rebuilding. The next General Assembly appropriated $100,000 for the completion of the building and the purchase of a new library, etc. With these sums the school constructed a commodious and beautiful building, and purchased an equipment for every department much superior to that possessed before the fire.

The Legislature of 1893 appropriated $40,000 for the construction of a new building to be used for gymnasium, library and laboratories. The General Assembly of 1895 appropriated $20,000 and the General Assembly of two years later $10,000 with which to complete this building.

The Legislature of 1903 appropriated $50,000 for purchasing a site for and the erection of a new training school building. During the four years following about $40,000 was added to this from the general funds of the institution and with these amounts the building was constructed.

MATERIAL EQUIPMENT

The State Normal School occupies four large, commodious buildings. The main building, constructed immediately after the fire of 1888, is about 190 x 150 feet, and is a very complete, well-appointed school building. It contains a beautiful chapel, the administration offices, reception room, cloak rooms, class rooms, and toilet rooms. It is, architecturally, one of the most beautiful buildings in the State, and its internal arrangement is well adapted to the purpose for which it was constructed.

A second building, constructed in 1893-4, is about 100 x 100 feet, and is in style in general harmony with the main building. The basement contains the two gymnasiums; the second story, formerly occupied by the library, has been made into class rooms. The third story is occupied by the departments of Chemistry, Physics and Physiology, with well-equipped laboratories. The fourth story is used by the literary societies and the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

The handsome four-story model or training school building is occupied by the training school and the department of manual training.

The new fireproof library building, recently completed, is a very substantial stone structure and now contains over 60,000 well-selected volumes.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

The Normal School maintains a complete system of training schools. The training school building now has the manual training department on the first floor, the eight grades on the second floor, and the high school on the third and fourth floors. These departments are all in charge of professionally trained teachers and are open to students for observation and practice. In addition to these schools the Normal School maintains a typical rural school six miles in the country. This school is in charge of a skilful professionally trained teacher, and the student may see just what can be done in any district school in the State.

THESE COMPLETE FACILITIES ARE OFFERED TO INDIANA STUDENTS ABSOLUTELY FREE. THERE IS NO TUITION AND THE ONLY FEE COLLECTED IS A LIBRARY FEE OF TWO DOLLARS FOR EACH QUARTER.

NON-RESIDENT STUDENTS

Students not residing in Indiana are charged a tuition fee of twelve dollars per quarter, which must be paid in advance.

THE PURPOSE OF THE SCHOOL

The statute of 1865 which created the Indiana State Normal School clearly defined its object. This was declared to be "the preparation of teachers for teaching in the common schools of Indiana." The General Assembly of 1907 clearly defined the common or public schools as consisting of (a) elementary schools including the first eight years of school work, and (b) high schools. The State Normal School, then, is not an institution for general culture for its own sake; it is a special school—a professional school. Its sole purpose is to confer on its students that education, discipline, professional training and practical skill which will best fit them for teaching in the public schools of Indiana. The school limits its attention and work to this one thing—the preparation of teachers for teaching in the common schools of Indiana. No person is admitted who does not enter for the purpose of preparing to teach in the common schools of the State, and all the work of the school has this one end in view. Perhaps a brief statement of the school's work in its attempt to fulfill this one object of its existence may aid some to determine whether or not they wish to become students.

The State Normal School fully recognizes the importance of special preparation of teachers for both elementary and high schools, and offers the best advantages to both classes. In the preparation for either phase of teaching three general principles must be recognized as essential: (1) The teacher must be thoroughly grounded in the particular subjects which he is to teach. (2) He must be a student of the principles involved in the presentation of these subjects and of the science of teaching in general. (3) He must supplement this special preparation with a mastery of some broader cultural subjects.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL TEACHERS

Recognizing the fact that the large per cent. of the teachers in the State must necessarily engage in teaching the elementary or common branches, the State Normal School seeks to do these three things for such teachers: First, it seeks to ground such students as do not already possess this knowledge thoroughly in the common branches. These lie at the foundation of all learning and scholarship. They are indeed the "fundamental branches of learning." It is also true that the great majority of pupils in the public schools do not advance beyond these elementary subjects. If the State's system of common schools is to become what its founders designed it to be, it must be largely through the efficient teaching of these elementary branches. In keeping with this thought large provision is made for thorough, reflective study of these. They are not pursued and taught as in a common elementary school. The student is required to possess the usual general knowledge of these subjects to be admitted. In the Normal School he is led to make a more critical and philosophical investigation of the facts and subject-matter than he has hitherto done. He now studies these subjects from a professional point of view, from a teacher's standpoint. His own method of studying them, and the method of presenting them appropriate to the different grades of the public schools, are themselves objects of attention and study.

The whole presentation of the subject is surrounded by a pedagogical atmosphere which is altogether absent from the ordinary school. The student is not only acquiring a larger and better knowledge of the subjects themselves, but he is learning to teach them.

Second, the Normal School requires every student to pursue a line of more strictly professional work—that is, work which is designed to give special insight into all educational questions and to prepare the individual for intelligent and reasonable charge of a school. This line of study consists of educational psychology, experimental psychology, theory of the school, the principles of methods, observation in the training schools and the interpretation of the teaching observed, child-study, history of education, school supervision, school systems of Europe and America, science of education, and practice in the training schools. In this more strictly professional department of the student's work every phase of education receives extended, thorough and systematic treatment—the historical, the theoretical and the practical. The whole object of this is to lead the student to acquire a knowledge of the principles of education and a reasonable degree of skill in applying these as a teacher. He is to be freed from obedience to mere prescription and rule as a teacher and acquire genuine originality and true individuality. Rational understanding of his vocation is aimed at and the power to determine from the standpoint of principle what the process and work of the school should be.

In the third place, the school requires its students to pursue such advanced lines and courses of study as will best reinforce the knowledge of the common school branches, and at the same time best prepare them for the more advanced grades of the elementary schools. A wide range of election is permitted in languages, mathematics, science, literature and history. Like the common school subjects, these branches are studied constantly from the teacher's point of view, and the student is frequently led to reflect upon their value as means of education, the method by which they are being studied, and methods of teaching these appropriate to the grades in which they are studied. The object is to make the entire work of the school strongly and distinctly professional.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

The Normal School also seeks to prepare teachers for high schools. In doing so it keeps in mind the three principles just stated. First, the high school teacher must know the subjects he is to teach. In addition to the regular Normal School Courses offered, a College Course for teachers is now maintained. To meet this first requirement on the part of the high school teacher, each student is required to choose a major subject and to pursue it a sufficient length of time to become thoroughly proficient in it. Second, each student must carry a certain amount of professional work looking toward professional skill. Third, these two phases of work must be supplemented by the study of certain subjects to insure a larger breadth of culture than would otherwise be possible.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

DIVISION OF YEAR

The school year is divided into four quarters, denoted respectively the Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer Quarters, each twelve weeks in length.

SUMMER QUARTER

In the Summer Quarter the quarter or twelve weeks is the credit unit. Students carry the same number of subjects that they carry in other quarters, and while the courses offered constitute majors they are so organized for the most part that each course may be taken as two consecutive minors, thus breaking the work up into six-weeks units for those who must leave at mid-quarter, or for those who may desire to enter at that time.

CREDITS

The term "credit" is used to denote the successful completion of a course—twelve weeks—in any subject. The Normal School gives no credit for less than a half quarter.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION

Legal requirements: Sixteen years of age, if women; eighteen, if men. Good health. Satisfactory evidence of undoubted moral character. A pledge that the applicant wishes to enter the school in good faith to prepare to teach, if practicable, in the public schools of Indiana.

Scholastic requirements: For admission to courses for Classes A, B and C the applicant must be a graduate of a commissioned or of a certified non-commissioned high school or must possess scholarship equivalent to that of such graduate. For admission to the Two-Year Course and the College Course the applicant must be a graduate of a commissioned high school or must possess scholarship equivalent to that of such graduate. For a more specific statement, see Courses of Study.

PRESENTATION OF CREDENTIALS

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES MUST PRESENT TO THE COMMITTEE ON REGISTRATION A COMPLETE CERTIFIED RECORD OF THEIR HIGH SCHOOL COURSE. THIS IS FILED IN THE OFFICE AS A PART OF THE STUDENT'S RECORD AND MAKES THE PRESENTATION OF THE DIPLOMA UNNECESSARY.

ADVANCED STANDING

The Normal School endeavors to give just credit for all scholarship which the applicant may possess. Applicants for advanced standing for work done in other schools must present to the Committee on Advanced Standing an official statement of such work. This statement must cover the following points: (1) The exact length of time spent in the school, with the dates of entering and leaving. (2) The number of subjects studied each term. (3) The exact subjects studied. (4) The number of weeks spent on each subject. (5) The length of the recitation period. (6) The record of the grade of work done in each subject. Blanks prepared for this purpose may be obtained upon application. It should be borne in mind, however, that no advanced standing for work done in other schools permits any student to graduate from the Normal School till he has spent at least one year of thirty-six weeks in residence.

SPECIAL COURSES

Many persons are at work in the schools who do not expect to make teaching their life work. They are, however, devoted to the work of teaching while engaged in it, and conscientiously desire to render efficient service as teachers. Others who have adopted teaching as their life vocation are so situated that it is impracticable at present for them to attend the State Normal School during the period necessary to graduation. Applications are received from many of these who desire to take a course of one year or more, devoting their time exclusively to such branches as they are required to teach and to certain phases of pedagogical study that bear directly on the problems of instruction and school management that confront them from day to day. The Normal School admits these classes of teachers and permits them to pursue such courses as their attainments and needs may determine.

TIME FOR ENTERING

For all reasons it is best to be present at the opening of the quarter, but students are admitted at any time in the year. Experience has shown that persons entering several days or weeks late and attempting to carry the regular number of studies and make a full quarter's credit are usually crippled in their work throughout the quarter. Hence persons entering three weeks or more after the opening of the quarter are limited for the quarter to such number of studies as they can profitably carry. However, it should be observed that the certificate for Class "A" can be issued only upon actual attendance for twelve weeks, and that the certificate for Class "B" can be issued only upon actual attendance for twenty-four weeks.

CLASS "A" AND "B" CERTIFICATES.—The following paragraphs from the Rules and Regulations of the State Teachers' Training Board will be of interest to students applying for Class "A" and "B" certificates:

LENGTH OF TERM.—The twelve weeks' period shall cover not less than twelve full calendar weeks of actual school work, including necessary days of classification and registration of students, legal holidays and commencement exercises.

WHEN TAKEN.—This work must be taken after the legal qualifications are met. It may be taken in two terms of six weeks each, or it may be extended through two or three twelve weeks' terms.

TIME OF ENTERING.—Students should enter at the beginning of the term. Late entrance should not be allowed unless the school is prepared to give the student such attention as will insure valuable and continuous work. If these conditions exist then students may enter at any time, provided no credit is given for less than one-half term's attendance.

ABSENCE.—Students absent not to exceed ten school days within the twelve weeks, and who pass all the examinations and do satisfactorily all the scholastic work of the twelve weeks, shall be regarded as fulfilling all the requirements of the law. This provision is not to be construed as reducing the twelve weeks' term to ten weeks, but is intended to cover simply and only cases of sickness. If emergency cases of absence arise not covered by the rule above, the president of the normal school or college may state the facts to the state superintendent for decision.

CREDITS IN ONE INSTITUTION.—All the work required for the Class "A" certificate, or the additional work required for the Class "B" certificate, shall be done in the same institution. No credits shall be given by any accredited institution for less than twelve weeks' work done in any other accredited institution. Credits shall be given for full quarters (twelve weeks) only.

CERTIFICATES, DIPLOMAS AND DEGREES

Under the law, when students complete the course of study they receive certificates of graduation, not diplomas. "At the expiration of two years after graduation, satisfactory evidence of professional ability to instruct and manage a school having been received, they (graduates) shall be entitled to a diploma appropriate to such professional degrees as the trustees shall confer upon them; which diplomas shall be considered sufficient evidence of qualification to teach in any of the schools of the State."

At the completion of the College Course the certificate and the degree of Bachelor of Arts are given, and the diploma or life license is given after two years of successful teaching.

DISCIPLINE OF SCHOOL

The end of all school government and discipline, intelligently conceived and administered, is the rational self-control and self-direction of the pupil. This is to be the outcome in the pupil. The effort is made to derive all rules of government from the inherent nature and purposes of the organization itself. This is the true basis of such rules; from this alone they derive their authority, and not from the teacher's will and utterance. A system of school regulations which aims only at arbitrary restraint, without leading the pupil to order his conduct by clearly conceived principles of right doing, lacks the most essential educative qualities. The formation of correct habits of thought and action, the development of worthy character; these are the true aims of school discipline. The discipline of the Normal School is administered in this general thought and spirit. Students are led to see the reasonableness of the requirements made of them, so that their obedience may be intelligent and educative. In respect to discipline, as in all other particulars, the Normal School seeks to make itself in fact what it must be by definition—a model school.

THE STUDENT'S WELFARE

The school management assures parents who send their sons and daughters to this institution that the school has complete and perfect arrangements for looking after both the physical health and spiritual welfare of its students. There are faculty committees whose duty it is to look carefully after the health of the students and to see that everything possible is done for them in case of illness. These committees, for men and women, respectively, keep in close touch with the student body and act promptly on all cases relating to the health of the students.

DEAN OF WOMEN

To supplement the work that has been carried on in the school in this direction, and to care more particularly for the comfort and well-being of the young women, the institution employs a Dean of Women, whose whole time is given to this work. Parents may rest absolutely secure in the knowledge that the Dean keeps in close touch with every young woman in the school and is careful to see that only proper places, under the best conditions, are selected as their homes. A list of desirable rooms and boarding places is kept on file in the office of the Dean, and the young women are expected to confer with the Dean before making definite arrangements as to rooms.

Past experience has demonstrated the desirability of requiring the women not to engage rooms where men are rooming. In case of seemingly justifiable exceptions to this rule, the matter should first be acted upon by the Dean before definite arrangements are made. Young women who desire to make arrangements for room and board before coming here can do so by corresponding with the Dean of Women. Indeed, young women will find it greatly to their advantage to make such arrangements before coming. Assistance will be given, as far as possible, to women desiring to find work to pay part of their expenses. Correspondence relating to the life and interests of women should be addressed to Charlotte Bertha Schweitzer, Dean of Women, State Normal School, Terre Haute, Indiana.

EXPENSES

Board, including fuel and light, can be had in good families at $3.50 to $4.50 per week, according to the quality of accommodations. There are good facilities for self-boarding and for club-boarding in the city at an average cost of $2.50 per week. Nearly all the students board in clubs, thus reducing their entire expenses for board and room rent to $3.00 or $3.50 per week for good accommodations. The expenses of many do not exceed $2.50 per week. The only charge made by the school is a library fee of $2 per term of twelve weeks. This applies to students residing in Indiana. Non-residents are charged a tuition fee of twelve dollars per term.

The necessary expenses for a year in the Normal School will not vary greatly from the following estimate:

Room rent, 36 weeks, at $1.25.....	$45 00
Board, 36 weeks, at $2.50.....	90 00
Washing and incidentals.....	25 00
Library fee, $2.00 per quarter.....	6 00
Books and stationery.....	15 00

Necessary expenses for one year, 36 weeks.....$181 00

WORKING FOR EXPENSES

It is often possible for students to make part of their expenses by doing outside work. The school officials and the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. will do everything in their power to aid young men and young women in finding suitable places to work.

ELECTIVE WORK

Students are required to elect work by subjects or courses, not by quarters. When a student elects a subject he is required to take a year's work in that subject, unless for good reasons, he is permitted by the faculty to discontinue it and take up another line of study in its place.

YOUNG MEN'S AND YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS

The Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. are the two Christian organizations of the school. They have for their principal object the development of a more perfect Christian character in each of their members and the bringing of those who have never known the Christian life to a realization of its beauty and power. The associations employ different means to accomplish their purpose. Each association holds one regular devotional meeting every week. Regular courses of Bible study are planned and carried out each year. The work as now planned requires four years for its completion. There are two classes of members in each of the associations, "active" and "associate." The first is made up of those connected in good standing with some evangelical church; the second class, of young men and women of good moral character who are interested in Christian work, though not connected with any church.

Two receptions are given each quarter. The first, at the beginning of the quarter, is for the reception of the new students. A very commendable feature of these receptions is the spirit manifested by the old students in helping the new students to feel at home.

STUDENT'S LOAN FUND

The Students' Loan Fund, under the management of the Alumni Association, is maintained for the purpose of aiding members of the senior class. This fund, started by the class of 1908, has been added to by successive classes and now amounts to something over one thousand dollars. Small sums at a low rate of interest are under certain conditions available to members of the senior class.

COURSES OF STUDY

The courses of study as offered at present may be stated briefly as follows:

1. TWELVE WEEKS' COURSE, to prepare teachers for Class "A," the legal requirements of which are (1) graduation from the commissioned or certified high school, or equivalent scholarship, (2) not less than twelve weeks' work in a professional school for the training of teachers, and (3) a license to teach of not less than twelve months.

2. TWENTY-FOUR WEEKS' COURSE, to prepare teachers for Class "B," the legal requirements of which are (1) graduation from the commissioned or certified high school, or equivalent scholarship, (2) not less than twenty-four weeks' work in a professional school for the training of teachers, (3) one year's successful experience in teaching, and (4) a license to teach of not less than twenty-four months.

3. TWO-YEAR COURSE, to prepare teachers for district and town schools, the legal requirements of which class are (1) graduation from the commissioned high school, and (2) two years, or seventy-two weeks, in a professional school. Successful completion of this course entitles the student to a certificate which is accepted in lieu of a license to teach in the district or town schools of the State for three years without examination.

4. THREE-YEAR COURSE, to prepare teachers for Class "C," the legal requirements of which are (1) graduation from the commissioned or certified non-commissioned high school, or equivalent scholarship, (2) graduation from a professional school, for the training of teachers in the course covering three years or one hundred eight weeks, (3) three years' successful experience in teaching, and (4) a three-year license or its equivalent. Completion of this course in the State Normal School and two years of successful experience entitle the student to a diploma which is equivalent to a Life State License to teach in Indiana.

5. FOUR-YEAR COLLEGE OR ADVANCED COURSE, to prepare teachers for high schools, academies and advanced positions in school work. The conditions of admission to this course are those required by standard colleges of the Middle West, or graduation from the commissioned high school. Completion of this course entitles the student to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and, after two years of successful experience, to a diploma which is equivalent to a Life State License to teach in Indiana.

6. COURSE FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES, a course of thirty-six weeks, open to graduates of standard colleges, and carrying with its completion and two years of successful experience the diploma which is equivalent to a Life State License to teach in Indiana.

7. THE OLD FOUR-YEAR COURSE, which required fifty credits for graduation. Students who entered upon this course may complete it by fulfilling the requirements at the time they entered or they may adjust themselves to the new courses and their conditions. High school graduates who entered the old four-year course were given fourteen credits. Of the thirty-six credits necessary for graduation, fifteen in common branches, nine, seven or eight, according to time of entrance, in professional subjects, and one in composition were required. The remaining subjects were elective. The fifteen credits required in common branches were distributed as follows: Three each in geography and grammar; two each in arithmetic, reading, history and physiology; and one in writing. Previous to the Fall Term of 1904, nine professional subjects were required; between the Fall Term of 1904 and the Summer Term of 1906, seven professional subjects were required; beginning with the Summer Term, 1906, eight professional subjects were required. With these facts in mind consultation of the subjects required in the new courses will readily reveal the changes necessary for adjustment to present conditions.

REQUIREMENTS OF COURSES OF STUDY

1. TWELVE WEEKS' COURSE

For Certificate to Class "A" four credits are required:

- (a) One subject chosen from the following: Psychology, Methods, History of Education, Observation, Child Study—one credit.
- (b) One common school subject—one credit.
- (c) One advanced subject—one credit.
- (d) One subject elected from common school or advanced subjects—one credit.

2. TWENTY-FOUR WEEKS' COURSE

For Certificate to Class "B" eight credits are required:

(a) First term of twelve weeks, four subjects as stated above in the Twelve Weeks' Course—four credits.

(b) Second term of twelve weeks, four subjects chosen under the same regulations and from the same subjects as in the Course for Class "A," with no duplication of work done in that course—four credits.

3. TWO-YEAR COURSE—SEVENTY-TWO WEEKS

Twenty-five credits required for certificate which entitles the holder to teach in district and town schools for three years without examination.

Psychology—two credits.

History of Education—one credit.

Methods—one credit.

Practice—two credits.

Arithmetic—two credits.

Grammar—two credits.

Composition—one credit.

Reading—two credits.

Geography 3 and 4—two credits.

History, two credits in American History; or, two credits in European History; or, one credit each in American and European History—two credits.

Physiology—two credits.

Music—one credit.

Drawing—one credit.

Manual Training and Domestic Science—one credit.

Penmanship—one credit.

Physical Training, twenty-four weeks—one credit.

Elective—one credit.

4. THREE-YEAR COURSE—ONE HUNDRED EIGHT WEEKS

Thirty-eight credits required for certificate which makes the holder eligible to Class "C," and after two years of successful experience entitles him to a diploma which is equivalent to a Life State License to teach in Indiana.

Psychology—three credits.

History of Education—two credits.

Methods—one credit.

Practice—two credits.

Arithmetic—two credits.

Grammar—two credits.

Composition—one credit.

History, two credits in American History; or, two credits in European History; or, one credit each in American and European History—two credits.

Physiology—two credits.

Reading—two credits.

Geography 3 and 4—two credits.

Nature Study—one credit.

Drawing—one credit.

Manual Training and Domestic Science—one credit.

Music—one credit.

Penmanship—one credit.

Physical Training, twenty-four weeks—one credit.

Electives—eleven credits. With the exception of the courses mentioned here as required, the electives may be chosen from any courses offered by the several departments of the school.

5. FOUR-YEAR COLLEGE COURSE FOR TEACHERS—ONE HUNDRED FORTY-FOUR WEEKS

To meet the increasing demand of school boards and school superintendents for teachers holding college diplomas, and to give an opportunity for teachers in the grades, or other persons, to prepare themselves for teaching in the high schools, and for other advanced positions in school work, such as principalships and superintendencies, a four-year College Course is maintained. Such a course is also made necessary by the action of the General Assembly in its session of 1907. By it the high schools of the State were made an integral part of the common school system.

While the course is arranged especially to prepare teachers for the high school, any one expecting to do educational work in any field should find in it opportunities for acquiring a broader culture and better professional attainments.

Graduates of the commissioned high schools of the State and graduates of normal schools of recognized standing will find that this course is especially adapted to their conditions and needs.

ENTRANCE

Students may secure full or partial registration in the College Course. Those who may at entrance secure full registration are as follows:

1. Graduates of commissioned high schools, or other schools of similar rank, graduates of the Indiana State Normal School, or of other normal schools whose course is substantially equivalent, and students from colleges of good standing are admitted to the College Course without examination.

2. Graduates of commissioned high schools who have not done in the high school the specified amount of work in the prescribed entrance subjects. Such students may have done more work in certain other subjects than is required for entrance. In such cases they may secure advanced standing in these subjects, but will be required to make up their deficiencies in the entrance subjects before graduation.

The classes of students who may enter the course conditioned are as follows:

1. Persons who hold a high-grade license may offer their license as the equivalent of the "elective entrance requirements." They will be admitted to full Freshman standing when they show by examination at the institution, by certificate from an accredited school, or by teacher's certificate in high school subjects, that they have done the requisite work in the "prescribed entrance subjects."

2. Undergraduates of high schools who are sufficiently advanced to do college work along certain lines.

3. Graduates of non-commissioned high schools.

Persons over twenty years of age wishing to attend the State Normal School for special work in any department and who are not candidates for graduation may enter as special students.

WORK REQUIRED FOR ENTRANCE

The high school work presupposed for the College Course is four years of at least eight months each. The unit of measurement is a year's work of daily recitations in one subject. Sixteen such units constitute the work of commissioned high schools.

By a ruling of the State Board of Education the work of the commissioned high school is distributed as follows:

A. Prescribed subjects—eleven units.

1. English—three units.

2. Mathematics—two units. (See exception below).

3. Foreign Language—two units. (See exception below).

4. History—one unit.

5. Science—one unit.

6. Two additional units selected from the above subjects.

B. Elective subjects—five units.

EXCEPTION.—By this rule of the State Board it is possible for a student, by making certain substitutions, to graduate from a commissioned high school without having taken any foreign language, or without mathematics, but he must have had one or the other of these subjects. In such cases, the student shall before graduation from the College Course make up the deficiency in these subjects.

ADVANCED STANDING

Students coming from other educational institutions may receive advanced standing in the college work. In no case will more than twenty-seven credits be given, of which nine is the maximum in any one department.

Graduates of the Indiana State Normal School and of other normal schools on the accredited list of this school will, as a rule, receive credits enough to enable them to graduate in two years, but in any case they must do full residence work for at least five terms after satisfying the requirements for graduation from the Normal Course. If, after graduating from the Normal Course, a student has attended college elsewhere, he will receive credit for this college work, but at least a year's work in residence will be required of him before receiving the degree, and the year's work immediately preceding graduation must be done in residence. However, it is not required that this year's work shall be done in consecutive terms.

Graduates of commissioned high schools are not expected to do again work once done in the high school and used for entrance credit. This being the case, they will either choose subjects which they have not had in the high school or will enter more advanced classes in the subject already begun.

GRADUATION—REQUIRED WORK

To graduate from the College Course, a student must have not fewer than thirty-eight credits in college work, in addition to the entrance requirements. Of these thirty-eight credits twenty-three are required of all students, and fifteen are elective, as follows:

Professional subjects—nine credits.

Science—three credits.

Latin or German—five credits.

English Literature and Composition—two credits.

European or American History—two credits.

Physical Culture—two credits.

Electives—fifteen credits.

Each student shall choose some one line of work for his major subject. Work enough must be elected in this subject to make a total of not fewer than nine credits in the subject before graduation. With the consent of the head of the department in which the major work is done, other work closely allied to the major work may be substituted for a part of it, not to exceed three terms in all. Of the professional work required for graduation, one term of observation and practice shall be in connection with the major subject.

Students who elect as their major subject a foreign language in which they have not done the elementary work satisfactorily before entering the College Course, will be required to pursue such elementary courses as are necessary to supplement their college work in addition to the latter.

Students who are granted advanced standing upon work done elsewhere must do at least three terms of work in their major subject in this school.

ELECTIVE WORK

All the remaining work necessary for graduation may be selected from any of the departments which offer work of college grade. In choosing these elective subjects the student should consult the head of the department in which he is doing his major work.

The regular amount of work expected of each student is three full courses a term, or the equivalent in hours. Exceptions to this rule will be granted only on presentation of good reasons by the Committee on the College Course.

DEGREES AND CERTIFICATES

All graduates from the College Course receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and the certificate of graduation, which, after two years' successful experience, becomes equivalent to a Life State License to teach in Indiana.

TEACHERS' LICENSES

Until this certificate of graduation has become a life license, graduates of the College Course may qualify as teachers for the high school by securing a high school license in those branches which they are to teach, and as teachers in the grades by securing a license to teach the common branches. A license is no longer required for graduation from the courses of the Normal School.

REQUIREMENTS FOR COLLEGE COURSE STUDENTS FOR CLASS "A" AND CLASS "B" CERTIFICATES

For Class "A" certificate, three credits, two of which must be in strictly professional subjects.

For Class "B" certificate, six credits, four of which must be in strictly professional subjects with no duplication of work.

6. COURSE FOR COLLEGE GRADUATES--ONE YEAR--THIRTY-SIX WEEKS

Twelve credits (one year's work in residence) are necessary for graduation from this course. Eight professional credits are required as follows: Three in Psychology, two in Methods, two in Practice, and one in History of Education. The four remaining credits may be elected from other professional subjects or from academic subjects. Students completing this course are entitled to the certificate and after two years of successful experience to the diploma, which is equivalent to a Life State License to teach in Indiana.

COURSES FOR NON-GRADUATES OF HIGH SCHOOLS

Many young men and women who have not had the advantages of high school training wish to become teachers. Usually these persons are much more mature in years than are the boys and girls that complete the required grade work and move from this on up into the high school. These boys and girls are usually about fourteen years of age, while the young men and women referred to above are from four to eight or ten years older. These persons have a maturity of mind and an experience in life quite unknown to the children just out of the grades which greatly reinforce their study of the high school branches. It would be manifestly unjust to require these mature persons to spend as much time in weeks or months in the study of the high school subjects as is required of the children just out of the grades. They can master these subjects in less time. Not only can they go over the ground required for graduation from the high school in less time, but they will have a more thorough understanding of the subjects pursued.

Under the law the State Normal School admits no female student under sixteen years of age and no males under eighteen. As a matter of fact, however, the average age on entering is probably between twenty-one and twenty-two. To meet the needs of these more mature young men and women that have not had high school advantages and who wish to become teachers, the Normal School will for the present offer courses in the various high school subjects prescribed by law. When students have done the minimum amount of work required of the certified non-commissioned high schools and the commissioned high schools, respectively, they will be eligible to enter upon the courses for the various classes of teachers designated by the law.

Students who have graduated from non-commissioned high schools, or who have done some work in high schools or in other schools of high school rank, will be given credit for all the scholarship they possess and will be permitted to pursue these courses till they are eligible to enter the regular normal courses.

DEPARTMENTAL STATEMENTS

PSYCHOLOGY

HOWARD SANDISON, Professor,

CHARLES HOMER BEAN, Assistant Professor.

1. General Characteristics.

The work of the first course consists of a consideration of—

The material or subject-matter of psychology.

Its characteristic attribute.

The scope or extent of the subject.

Modes of investigation.

The essential standpoint in the study of the material.

General relation of psychology to the other branches of study.

The nervous organism as the physical basis of conscious activity.

General relation of the mind to neural action.

The nature of attention.

Sensation.

Educational principles or corollaries arising under each topic. Each quarter.

2. Feeling:

The affective element.

Reflex action and instinct.

Impulse.

Emotion.

3. Willing:

The nature of will.

Will and character.

The nature of the self.

The organization of general psychology.

The nature of educational psychology. Each quarter.

4. Knowing:

a. Knowing the particular.

In the second course an investigation of the elementary stages of knowing is made. This course involves a study of—

(1) Presentation.

Sensing:

General.

Special.

Sense-perception.

(2) Imagination.

Memory:

Spontaneous.

Voluntary.

Systematic.

Imagination:

Mechanical.

Productive or separative.

Creative.

(3) The Language Activity.

Creative.

Interpretive.

Educational principles or corollaries.

Each Quarter.

b. Knowing the general, or relation. (Thinking.)

The third course consists of a detailed investigation of—

Understanding.

Conception.

Judgment.

Reasoning:

Inductive.

Deductive.

Educational principles or corollaries.

5. Elective work.

Experimental Psychology (5).

Experimental Psychology (5).

Experimental Psychology (5).

Genetic Psychology (3); Comparative Psychology (2).

Social Psychology (5)

At various quarters of the year as indicated by the printed programs.

Philosophy I.
Philosophy II.
Philosophy III.
Aesthetics.
Ethics.

Logic Usually in the fall and winter quarters.

The work in Psychology 1, or its equivalent, is a prerequisite for Educational Psychology and Social Psychology.

The work in Psychology 1, 2 and 3, or its equivalent, is a prerequisite for the course in Logic and the course in Aesthetics.

The numbers in parenthesis indicate the number of hours per week in recitation.

AMERICAN HISTORY AND GOVERNMENT

ELLWOOD WADSWORTH KEMP, Professor.

WILLIAM O. LYNCH, Assistant Professor.

The Department of American History offers, at present, eleven courses, each continuing through one quarter. Courses 1 to 3 inclusive, furnish an organic and continuous course of one year in American History. If possible these courses should be taken up in order, as they are closely connected. Students will be allowed, however, to vary the regular order when a satisfactory reason is given to the head of the department. Graduates of commissioned high schools or those who have done an equivalent amount of work may take any of the courses offered by the department, and students in the college course will be given opportunity to do such work as will entitle them to college credits. In all the courses a considerable amount of collateral reading is required.

1. American History to 1783.—In this course the European origin of American institutions, the colonial policies of European states in the new world, the colonial development during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, the struggle between European powers for colonial supremacy, and the Revolutionary War are considered. Text: Thwaites, The Colonies.

Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

2. History of the United States from 1783-1850.—Some of the chief points of this course are: The problems of the Confederation period, the making of the Constitution, the organization of the Federal Government, the relations of the United States with European powers during the period of the French Revolution and the Napoleonic wars, westward expansion, the Monroe Doctrine, the growth of sectionalism and its final culmination in the Civil War. The use of original material is an important feature of this course. Text: Hart, Formation of the Union.

Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

3. History of the United States, 1850-1910.—In this course special attention is given to the underlying causes of the Civil War, to political and industrial development during the war, to reconstruction, and to the political, social, and economic growth of the American nation into one of the leading world powers. Text: Wilson, Division and Reunion.

Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

4. American Government and Politics.—This course consists in a study of the actual system of government in America, federal, state, city, county and township, as those have developed in American life. This subject will be found especially helpful for students preparing to teach civics. Text: Beard, American Government and Politics.

Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

5. Industrial History of the United States.—This course deals with the development of the American people from the Atlantic seacoast westward to the Pacific seacoast, from 1607 down to the present time. Especial emphasis is laid on the industrial development from complete dependence of Europe to the present time, when in every phase of industry independence has been obtained. Text: Bogart, Economic History of the United States.

Fall and Spring quarters.

6. Social and Economic Problems in American History.—This course deals with such problems as the growth of population in the United States, immigration, with problems based thereon, growth of great industrial centers, with the problems of labor and capital, including conflicts arising between them, government of cities, child labor, education, marriage, divorce, sweat-shops, causes of poverty, methods proposed to effect social improvement, and kindred topics. Text: Wright, Practical Sociology. Omitted 1913-14.

7. Financial History of the United States.—This course deals with such problems as the evolution of money, gold standard, silver standard, history of paper money throughout American history, and the history and methods of American banking. Text: Dewey, Financial History of the United States. Omitted 1913-14.

8. The History of the West to 1860.—An advanced course dealing particularly with the geographical conditions of the great economic, political and social life of the Mississippi Valley and showing the development of this great interior region from the time of the first settlement to the Civil War. This course offers an opportunity for the study of a special phase of American history of the greatest significance in the formation of American institutions and ideals. Winter quarter.

9. The History of the North, 1840-1860.—This course deals with the expansion of the non-slaveholding area, industrial development, immigration, the anti-slavery movement, the forces controlling political parties, and the conflict between sectional and national theories. The course ends with a survey of the whole life of the North and the opening of the Civil War. Omitted 1913-14.

10. The History of the South, 1815-1860.—This course deals with the unification of the old tide-water region with the West through the extension of the plantation system to the Piedmont and lower Mississippi regions. The institution of slavery in its economic, social and political aspects, is thoroughly studied. The course ends with a survey of all phases of Southern life at the opening of the Civil War. Omitted 1913-14.

11. The History of Indiana.—The purpose of this course is to work out the political, industrial and social history of Indiana from its earliest settlement to the present time, and also to show the influence of Indiana in the development of Old Northwest and of the Nation. Spring quarter.

METHODS, OBSERVATION AND PRACTICE

ALBERT ROSS CHARMAN, Professor.

This department deals with the process of education, both on its theoretical and practical side. It involves, therefore, a study of the principles and methods of instruction, together with the best current literature of the subject and the application of these principles and methods in the training schools, which are the students' educational laboratories.

The courses in the department are as follows: One of observation, one of methods, two in practice and one in problems of the school.

1. Observation.—In this course part of the time is given to observation of lessons in the training schools and part to the discussion of the essential elements in the lesson in general and in the particular lesson observed. Attention is also given to the organization of the "Common Branches" and to problems of discipline, management and general organization of the school, etc.

2. Methods.—A part of this course is given to the study of the educational situation in which the problem of method arises and involves a study of: (1) The nature of education in general. (2) The school as a social institution, as a legal institution and as a spiritual organization. A part of the course is given to the general theory of method and its application to one or more branches of study and to the lesson.

3. Practice I.—Students are required to observe and teach in some or all of the grades in the Normal Training School and in the Rural Training School. The time given to observing and teaching is divided about equally between the two, in so far as it is practicable. The aim of this course is to give the student skill in organizing and interpreting lessons, and also in presenting them in the different stages of the pupils' development and under the conditions of both city and rural schools. The time from 3:40 to 4:20 is given to discussion, not only of the lessons observed and taught, but also of the principals underlying artistic teaching, the organization of the school, curriculum, program, etc.

Note.—The work in this course will be modified to suit the needs of special students when the conditions warrant it.

4. Practice II.—More time is given to teaching than to observing in this course. The aim is to give the student an opportunity, in so far as is practicable, to teach in the grade or grades desired in accordance with the work which the student is specially preparing to do. Students will be given charge of classes in given subjects for stated periods, and, where possible, of rooms for a day, or week, or even longer. The aim is, also, to give the student every opportunity which the actual school affords to study theoretically and practically, and also to do, under criticism, all the work which a well-organized school requires.

NOTE.—The subject of practice is expected to demand about the average time of any other branch of study.

5. Problems of the School.—This course deals with the problems of the elementary and high school, such as discipline, organization, instruction, course of study, etc. It will be presented only in the Summer quarter and may be taken by students who have had several years of experience as a substitute for Practice II. Students admitted to this course only after consultation with the head of the department.

Students should arrange to take the work in this department as follows: Observation the first or second term of residence study. Methods after completing the required work in psychology and the Practice in Senior year, taking them in consecutive terms. No practice is offered in the Summer quarter.

Note.—The Normal School has quite complete facilities for Observation and Practice. The Training School is entirely under the control and management of the Normal School, and in addition to the eight grades of the elementary school there is a well-equipped high school. All of the work is in charge of well-equipped professionally trained teachers. There is also a Rural Training School six miles east of the city on an interurban car line, which is a model district school, in charge of a competent professionally trained teacher. All phases of the common school problems are therefore objectified in these Training Schools, and are open to students for both observation and practice in teaching.

PHYSICS AND CHEMISTRY

ROBERT G. GILLUM, Professor.

EDWIN MORRIS BRUCE, Assistant Professor.

JOHN H. OSBORNE, Laboratory Assistant.

The work in the Department of Physics and Chemistry is meant to meet the needs of the following classes of students: (1) Students who wish to obtain a knowledge of these subjects as a means of culture; (2) students who are preparing to teach in grade work only, and who wish to supplement the work in geography and physiology; (3) students who are fitting themselves to become teachers in physics and chemistry in the high schools, academies and other schools of Indiana. By consulting with the head of the department students may elect any of the courses offered for which they are prepared. The arrangement of the courses is not rigid. The order in which these courses may be taken may, upon consultation with the proper person, be varied to suit the needs of the student, and by taking a greater number of courses during any term the time of the entire course may be shortened. The time of the student is about equally divided between the class-room and the laboratory. Both the physical and chemical laboratories are well equipped for work as far as it is offered. In addition to the above equipment a workshop is provided for students who wish to spend some time in the preparation of apparatus for illustrating the work in physics and chemistry, and as far as possible, classes will be organized for regular shop work.

PHYSICS

1. Mechanics.—(1) Matter and its divisions, properties and conditions. (2) Motion and force, work and energy, gravitation, falling bodies, the pendulum, simple machines, hydrostatics and pneumatics. Each quarter.

2. Sound, Heat, Light.—(1) Sound: Nature of sound, velocity, reflection and refraction of sound; wave motion, characteristics of tone, forced and sympathetic vibrations, laws of vibrations, etc. (2) Heat: Nature of heat, temperature, production and transference of heat, effects of heat, measurement of heat, relation of heat to work. (3) Light: Nature of radiation, velocity and intensity of light, reflection and refraction of light, spectra, chromatics, interference, polarization and optical instruments. Each quarter.

3. Electricity.—Electricity and magnetism, static and current electricity, magnetism, electric generators, electro-magnetic induction, electrical measurements, and some of the more important applications of electricity. All points in the class work are fully illustrated by experiment. The laboratory work in general physics is all quantitative work, and the time of each course for the first year is divided about equally between the recitation and the laboratory work. Each quarter.

4. Advanced Physics.—Mechanics. This course should follow one year's work in high school physics, or courses 1, 2, and 3 in the Normal School. It presupposes a course in trigonometry. Five hours per week. Fall quarter.

5. Advanced Physics.—Heat. This course offers advanced work in class and laboratory. The work is largely individual, and the library is constantly used. It presupposes a course in trigonometry. Five hours per week. Winter quarter.

6. Advanced Physics.—Electricity and magnetism. Attention is given to the history of electrical theories and electrical discoveries. This course may follow 1, 2, and 3, and should follow trigonometry. Three hours per week. Spring quarter.

7. Advanced Physics.—Sound and light. An advanced demonstrative and laboratory course following the preceding course. Three hours per week. Winter quarter.

8. Methods in Physics.—This course is intended to prepare students to teach physics in the grades and in the smaller high schools of the State. It will attempt to show the place of physics in relation to the other scientific subjects, and the work will be organized to show the best means of presenting the subject to grade and high school students. Laboratory work and the arranging and making of simplified forms of apparatus will be given considerable emphasis. This course should follow 1, 2 and 3. Two hours per week. Fall and Winter quarters.

9. Laboratory Practice and Shop Work.—This is a practical course in laboratory methods, in laboratory manipulation, and shop work in designing and making simple pieces of apparatus for illustrating the more elementary principles of physics. It may be used as a review course for those who have had a text-book course, but poor laboratory facilities. Two hours per week.

CHEMISTRY

1. General Inorganic Chemistry.—This course comprises a systematic study of the more elementary principles and the properties of a few of the common non-metallic elements and their compounds. In this course, as in 2 and 3, the work is arranged to meet the needs of the grade or general teacher, as well as that of the special teacher of chemistry. The intention in the first year's work is to enable the student to understand the chemistry of common life, and the chemical side of other lines of work. There is daily recitation and laboratory work, a note-book being kept of the experiments. Each quarter.

2. General Inorganic Chemistry.—This is a continuation of course 1 and is more particularly a study of the common metals. Considerable library reading is done in studying the various industrial processes in preparing the important metals for the market. A careful study is here made of their reactions upon which qualitative analysis is based. When time permits, the more common organic compounds are studied. Each quarter.

3. Qualitative Analysis.—This is a laboratory course supplemented by individual instruction. A study of the principles and operations involved, and practice in identifying the common metals and acids is the primary purpose of this course. Each quarter.

4. Qualitative Analysis.—This also is a laboratory course. It is an application of the processes worked out in course 3. Several minerals are analyzed, work is done in detecting the common food adulterants, in determining the purity of chemicals, and in detecting the common non-metallic elements like carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen, sulphur and the halogens and in the analysis of drinking water, coal, soils, etc. Open to students having had courses 1, 2, and 3. Each quarter.

5. Quantitative Analysis.—This is practical quantitative analysis, both gravimetric and volumetric. It is a laboratory course supplemented by individual instruction. Open to students having had courses 1, 2 and 3. Each quarter.

6. Organic Chemistry.—Daily recitation and laboratory work, consisting of a systematic study of the common carbon compounds. Particular attention is given to those of practical importance. The physiological bearing of the subject is kept in view. The laboratory work consists in preparing and purifying a number of the organic compounds and in some work of an analytic nature. Open to students having had courses 1, 2 and 3.

Spring quarter.

7. Industrial Chemistry.—This is a study of the chemical processes involved in the common industries found in almost every community, such as foundries, dyeing works, distilleries, glass factories, paper mills, ice plants, etc. The various plants of the city are visited. Open to students having had courses 1 and 2.

Fall quarter.

8. Professional Course.—A study of such problems as the equipment of laboratories, methods in chemistry teaching, chemical literature making reagents, chemistry of domestic science, etc. Open to students having had courses 1 and 2. With course 9 it makes a five-hour course.

Winter quarter.

9. Domestic Science Course.—This course is given to show the relation of chemistry to domestic science and will deal with those phases of chemistry which bear particularly upon the art of cooking. It is intended to deal with the chemistry of cooking and to include within its scope such chemical processes as would arise in the courses offered in domestic science.

10. Chemistry of Foods (three-hour course). Open to students having had courses 1, 2 and 3. May be taken with course 11 as a five-hour course. Summer quarter.

11. Toxicology.—A study of the common poisons, their detection and their antidotes. Open to students having had courses 1, 2 and 3. Summer quarter.

12. Nature Study.—The work in Nature Study consists of general work in either physics or chemistry. The course is one term and in the laboratory such experiments are made as can be well adapted to the work in nature study to be taught in the grades. Persons taking work in physics or chemistry may substitute one term in either subject for the required work in nature study.

PHYSIOLOGY

LOUIS JOHN RETTGER, Professor.

FRED DONAGHY, Acting Assistant Professor.

GEORGE EMANUEL BURGET, Laboratory Assistant.

1. Hygiene and the Public Health.—The work of this course deals with the fundamental facts of Immunology and Sanitation. The physiological factors involved in natural resistance to disease and in acquired immunity are studied in the light of the modern conceptions of Immunology and Bacteriology. Two periods per week are spent in the laboratory, in the microscopic study of a few types of bacteria. Simple plate cultures are made under varying experimental conditions to illustrate the nature of the growth and distribution of bacteria. A number of the more important diseases are studied in detail, showing their causes, the organisms involved, and the means for their cure or prevention. Practical instruction is given in the use of disinfectants as required for the more usual emergencies. It is the purpose of the course in short, to present the scientific knowledge, which every person should have, to act intelligently and effectively in all efforts to promote the individual and the public health.

2. The Elements of Neurology.—This course includes a study of the nervous system and the special senses. The anatomy and histology of these organs are made the basis of the laboratory work. The course is planned for such students as desire a more critical study of the physiology of the nervous system and special senses, as a proper introduction to psychology and pedagogy. The emphasis is therefore laid upon the contributions of neurology to psychology and pedagogy.

3. The Physiology of Digestion and Nutrition.—The purpose of this course is to present the modern conception of the digestion and assimilation of the foods and the reflex and nervous control of the digestive organs. The laboratory work consists of the execution of about one hundred experiments showing the chemical and physical processes involved in digestion. The preparation of about twenty-five microscopic slides showing the histological structure of the digestive organs is intended to furnish the proper anatomical background for the understanding of the physiological processes concerned.

4. Genetic Physiology.—This course consists of a study of those physiological factors which have to do with the growth, development, and improvement, not of individual organisms alone, but of species and races. The physiological roles of natural selection, heredity, variation, changed environment, etc., upon the life of a race are considered. The laboratory work consists of the study of the developing chick and the frog's egg and such other experiments on animal behavior as seem to throw some light upon the probable origin of racial characteristics or individual physiological reactions.

The student qualified to enter upon these courses may determine the order in which he will take them. Two courses are required of students graduating in Class C, but the student, in conference with the department, may select any two of the above four courses. Students in the College Course may elect any three of these courses to satisfy the requirements for the year's work in science in the College Course. Students wishing to continue their work in this department beyond the four regular courses offered, will be assigned individual work, largely in the laboratory, upon such problems as the student's interest and previous training may warrant. Such work may be in advanced physiological chemistry, in histology and microscopic technique, or in the execution of more difficult experiments in animal physiology.

The physiological laboratories are large, well-equipped rooms with special tables for laboratory work. The tables are provided with good microscopes, knives, needles, reagents and such other apparatus as is necessary in the study of the subject. In addition to over forty such individual table places, the School possesses some of the best general apparatus available, such as is usual in laboratory courses in physiology.

LIBRARY

ARTHUR CUNNINGHAM, Head Librarian and Professor of Library Science.
ANNE CLARE KEATING, Assistant Librarian and Cataloguer.
MABEL E. MARSHALL, Assistant Cataloguer and Document Librarian.
HELEN MARY CRANE, Reference and Periodical Librarian.
CARABELLE GREINER, Reference and Children's Librarian.
EDNA BROWN, Reference, Binding and Pamphlet Librarian.

The Library numbers over sixty thousand volumes and is increasing in size at the rate of about three thousand volumes annually. It is housed in one of the handsomest and most convenient buildings in the State, with ample room for growth.

The utility of the Library is increased many fold by a thorough classification of books on the shelves and by a card catalogue and index of authors, titles and subjects, with an elaborate system of references and cross-references. The Library is also provided with Poole's and other indexes to magazines and books.

In the management of the Library, the effort is made to bring about the freest and best use of the books consistent with the interests of all. To this end the students, as well as members of the faculty, have the privilege of full and free access to the shelves, and books may be drawn from the Library for home use by the proper filling out of charging slips. A small pamphlet, called the "Library Circular," which gives some necessary general instructions in the use of the Library, may be had on application at the charging desk. More specific instructions in the use of the card catalogue, the classification and shelf-arrangement of the books, the rules and regulations, etc., are given to the new students by the head librarian at the opening of each term. Individual assistance is also rendered by all the librarians. The ultimate purpose is to train students who expect to become teachers into independent, systematic and intelligent users of any well-organized collection of books and to fix in them scholarly habits of research.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN LITERATURE

CHARLES MADISON CURRY, Professor.

MARY ELINOR MORAN, Assistant Professor.

The courses offered in Literature are planned to cover fairly the entire field of English and American literature. In all these courses the actual reading and class discussion of representative pieces of literature are the essential features. For convenience the courses are numbered in consecutive order, but it is not necessary that they should be taken in this particular order.

1. The Development of English Literature.—An outline course designed to give a general view of the relations of periods and authors to each other, and to form a basis for the more intensive study of special periods and authors. Lectures, readings from many representative authors, and class discussions.

Fall, Spring and Summer quarters.

2A. Literary Types.—An introduction to the problems and elements of literary study. Epic and lyric poetry, and the drama.

Fall and Spring quarters.

2B. Literary Types (continued).—The novel, the short story and the essay.

Winter and Summer quarters.

3. English Poetry: The Victorian Period.—Special studies in Tennyson, Matthew Arnold, Rosetti and Mrs. Browning.

Winter and Summer quarters.

4. English Poetry: Early Nineteenth Century.—The culmination of Romanticism in Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley and Keats.

Spring quarter.

5. English Poetry: The Eighteenth Century.—The age of Queen Anne and the revival of Romanticism. Dryden, Pope, Gray, Goldsmith, Blake, Cowper and Burns.

Winter quarter.

6. English Poetry: Spenser and Milton.—Two books of the Faërie Queene, Paradise Lost, and Samson Agonistes.

Fall quarter.

7. Shakespeare.—The close study of a few plays in an effort to understand and appreciate the main elements of Shakespeare's power as an interpreter of life, and the main features of a dramatic treatment of material. The group of plays studied varies from time to time, the following list containing those most often used: Romeo and Juliet, Julius Caesar, King Lear, Hamlet, Richard III, Twelfth Night, As You Like It, Merchant of Venice, Henry V, the Tempest, Macbeth and Coriolanus.

Fall and Spring quarters.

8. English Prose Masterpieces.—The material for this course will consist of all or a large part of the following list: More's Utopia, Bacon's Essays, Milton's Areopagitica, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress (Part I), Walton's Compleat Angler, Swift's Tale of a Tub, or Gulliver's Travels, Lamb's Essays of Elia, Ruskin's Sesame and Lilies, and Carlyle's Past and Present.

Winter and Summer quarters.

8A. English Prose.—Selections from the following authors: Lamb, DeQuincy, Hazlitt, Ruskin, Macaulay, and Matthew Arnold.

Summer quarter.

9. English Fiction.—A group of representative novels will be studied and discussed in class. The chief characteristics of the novel as a literary form will be emphasized and the story of the development of English fiction will be outlined. The novels studied are generally taken from this list: Scott's Quentin Durward and The Bride of Lammermoor; Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice, and Persuasion; Reade's The Cloister and the Hearth; Dickens's Pickwick Papers, and Martin Chuzzlewit; Thackeray's Vanity Fair; Charlotte Bronte's Jane Eyre, Trollope's Barchester Towers; George Eliot's The Mill on the Floss, and Scenes of Clerical Life; Hardy's The Return of the Native, and George Meredith's The Egoist.
Spring quarter.

10. American Fiction.—A study of America's contribution to the field of the novel. A careful study of several from the following list will be made: Cooper's The Last of the Mohicans, and The Pilot; Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter, The House of the Seven Gables, The Blithedale Romance, and The Marble Faun; Howell's The Rise of Silas Lapham, and The Quality of Mercy; and James's Daisy Miller, An International Episode, and The Portrait of a Lady. Some attention will be given to old established favorites, like Mrs. Stowe's Uncle Tom's Cabin, and also to the leading tendencies discernible in the better writers of present-day fiction.
Fall quarter.

11. American Poetry.—Studies in Poe, Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier, Bryant, Emerson, Holmes, Whitman and Lanier.
Spring term.

12. American Prose (exclusive of the novel).—In addition to selections from other works, the following will be studied: Franklin's Autobiography, Thoreau's Walden, Emerson's Essays, Irving's Alhambra, and Lowell's Literary Essays. Winter quarter.

13. Robert Browning.—The course includes a study of the principal dramatic monologues, several of the shorter dramas and The Ring and the Book.
Summer quarter.

14. Anglo-Saxon.—Elements of grammar, selection from reader, discussions of origins of present English forms. Text: Bright's Anglo-Saxon Reader.
Fall quarter.

15. Anglo-Saxon.—Continuation of Course 14. Grammar completed, selected readings from the literature of the period.
Winter quarter.

16. Middle English.—The language of Chaucer as a basis. Extensive reading from the Canterbury Tales. Text: Sweet's Second Middle English Primer. Spring quarter.

HISTORY OF EDUCATION

FRANCIS MARION STALKER, Professor.

1. Beginnings in Education.—The course attempts to get at the real meaning of education in its largest sense, and to apply this notion to the civilization and life of certain selected types in the East. Special stress is placed upon the civilization and system of the Hebrew people. An extended course of reading is prescribed and reports are required. Each quarter.

2. Greek and Roman Education.—As detailed a study of the civilizations of these two peoples as time will permit is made in a comparative way. The great periods and movements, the changing educational ideals, and the contributions of permanent value are given the emphasis that they merit in class discussion. A wide range of reading calculated to make the student familiar with Greek and Roman culture is required.

Fall, Winter and Spring quarters.

3. European Education: Ancient and Mediaeval Periods.—The centers of Hellenistic culture with special emphasis upon the Alexandrian movement and the forces that led to the centralization of power in Charlemagne and the religious educational ideal of the Middle Ages, and the Italian renaissance with its parallel movements and their significance in education indicate the scope and nature of the course. Prescribed readings and reports.

Winter and Spring quarters.

4. Leading School Systems of Europe and America.—The historical development of the German School System, great German educators and reformers, a comparative study of the German, French, English and American systems, with required investigation of special problems suggest the nature of the work in the course.

Summer quarter.

5. The School System and School Law of Indiana.—An attempt is made to trace the growth of the school system of Indiana from its beginnings in the Northwest Territory, through the territorial and State legislation down to the present time. The great men and movements with their influence and contributions receive attention.

Omitted in 1913-14.

6. School Organization and Administration.—A more or less detailed study of the practical, every day problems of the school is made, and the simple principles of scientific pedagogy applied to their solution. An attempt is made to show the student how to study community life in its manifold interests and materials and how to make daily concrete use of such knowledge in the school room. The course is intended primarily for students who have not taught school and should not be taken as one of the required courses in History of Education. Fall and Spring quarters.

8. Secondary Education.—The historical development of secondary schools in Europe and the United States; the present status of secondary education with the preparation, problems, duties and opportunities of secondary teachers; the relation of secondary schools to primary schools and colleges, and the study of selected schools as types, indicate the nature of the work of this course. Special topics determined by the major subject of the student are assigned for investigation. Winter quarter.

9. Ancient Educational Classics.—A critical study of parts of Plato's Republic and Laws, Xenophon's Cyropaedia, Aristotle's Ethics and Politics, Quintilian's Institutes of Oratory, and Plutarch's Moralia constitutes the scope and nature of the work. Omitted in 1913-14.

10. Modern Educational Classics.—A study of a number of the best essays and books of recent times as indicating the trend of modern educational ideals is attempted in this course. This course should not be taken as one of the required courses. Summer quarter.

NOTE.—The required work in History of Education should be done in courses 1 to 4. Students beginning the subject should take Course 1. Class A and Class B students may take 1 or 6. Students desiring for any reason to pursue any of the courses contrary to these suggestions should consult the department before doing so.

GEOGRAPHY AND GEOLOGY

CHARLES REDWAY DRYER, Professor.

WILLIAM ALLEN MCBETH, Assistant Professor.

GARL HALE BARKER, Laboratory Assistant.

Geography is that part of earth science which deals with the distribution of features on the face of the earth and with the relations of its inhabitants to their natural environment.

Geology is that part of earth science which deals with the physical history of the earth, or "the divine method of creation in time."

Geography reads the present in the light of the past; geology reads the past in the light of the present.

A large part of the work is done by means of a well-equipped laboratory. The material includes fifteen large relief models, 2,500 maps, 2,000 mounted pictures, 750 lantern slides, 1,000 specimens of minerals and rocks, barometers, thermometers, barograph and thermograph, globes and tellurians. The equipment is being constantly increased and will comprise every device which can be profitably used. The school library contains nearly everything available in the literature of the subject and additions are made every year.

Preparatory Courses. Courses 1 and 2 in physical geography of high school grade formerly offered have been discontinued. Similar work may be taken in Courses 3, 5 and 6.

Common School Courses. 'Two terms' work in the outlines of general geography from the teacher's standpoint are open to high school graduates and are required of candidates for the Normal diploma in the two years' and three years' courses.

3. Physical and Economic Geography. Each quarter.

4. Regional Geography.—The natural provinces of the world.
Each quarter.

Advanced and College Courses. Nine courses in the higher phases of geography and in geology are offered. Courses 5 and 6 are introductory. The student may pursue one or more of three lines of work, regional geography, economic and social geography, geology. Instruction will be given by lectures, laboratory and field work, library research and seminar.

5. Advanced Physiography.—Land forms and processes.

Courses 5 and 12 are given as related and continuous work through the Summer and Fall quarters. Students may enter or leave the class at any time, receiving credit for any period not less than six weeks. The work is adapted to individual needs and done in small groups. About half the time is spent in field work.

6. Agricultural Geography.—Soils, climate, plants, animals, and crops. May be substituted for Course 3.

Spring and Summer quarters.

7. Regional Geography.—North America, the physiography and natural resources of the continent and the influence of natural environment upon the inhabitants, past and present.

Winter and Spring quarters.

8. Regional Geography.—Europe, the physiographic features of the continent and their influence upon the history and development of peoples.

Fall and Summer quarters.

9. Economic Geography.—The natural sources of wealth and their utilization by man.

Fall and Spring quarters.

10. Social and Historical Geography.—Plant, animal and human societies in relation to their environment. Winter quarter.

Courses, 9 and 10 form a valuable basis for the study of economics, sociology and history.

11. Principles, Problems and Methods of Geography.—This course deals with the scope, organization and pedagogy of geography and is designed for supervisors and those who wish to make special preparation for teaching geography in the grades.

Spring and Summer quarters.

12. Dynamic Geology.—The forces and processes which have shaped the earth from the earliest periods to the present.

Summer and Fall quarters.

13. Structural and Stratigraphic Geology.—The materials of the earth crust, their arrangement and distribution in time.

Winter quarter.

PENMANSHIP AND DRAWING

WILLIAM THOMAS TURMAN, Professor.

PENMANSHIP

All should write legibly. Courtesy requires and business demands it. Rapid writing is necessary in business. To write legibly and rapidly and for a long period requires proper position that the work may be done with ease. The teacher above all others, should be master of these requirements if he would teach others to write. Theory without work is good, but with work is better.

One term is devoted to this subject. Proper positions for desk and blackboard writing are explained and practiced. Unshaded work in script, figures and lettering. The modern style capitals and small letters are standard. Good board work must be done by every student.

DRAWING

Under the new school laws Drawing is a required subject in the course of study for teachers of "Class C" and for teachers who take the course for "Teachers of District and Town Schools" and one of the electives for teachers of "Classes A and B," and a required subject in commissioned high school courses.

The object of all endeavor should be to make life more enjoyable and life will be happier when we are able to discriminate and choose more intelligently the things pertaining to the home and its surroundings—they extend so far—in such particulars as color, material, proportion and arrangement.

The educational value of drawing should not be underestimated. Careful observation, accuracy of representation, dispatch and neatness are shown nowhere better than in a problem in drawing, and together are a good indication of a student's ability and method. Add to these the cultivation of the imagination and the consideration and a better understanding of what is considered most beautiful in nature and in art, and there seem sufficient reasons for introducing this subject into our public school courses.

The purpose of instruction is not to make artists or to help finish a few pretty things, but rather to help teachers prepare themselves so that they may be able to present in a more pleasing and instructive manner all of the subjects in their school work.

During the six terms pencil, charcoal, pen, brush and color will be used. Board work will be emphasized, and, whenever practicable, outdoor sketching will be undertaken.

1. Elementary.—Drawing with brush from familiar objects. Ink silhouettes and landscapes. Trees. Drawing with a pencil. Color study and its application to easy designs. Geometric problems and constructive drawing. This work is suitable for the lower grades of public school work. Fall, Winter, Spring, Summer.

2. Perspective.—Work is largely in Parallel Perspective—theoretical and applied: freehand and mechanical—as applied to rectangular objects—boxes, houses, etc., and cylinders. Landscapes with perspective of roads, fences, etc. Shadows and reflections, board work, pencil and color. Development of surfaces and intersection of solids.
Fall, Winter.

3. Perspective and Pen Drawing.—Angular Perspective as studied in 2 with more advanced problems. Pen handling as used in drawing from still life and landscape. Picture study. This and succeeding courses are open to those students, only, who have had 1 and 2. Spring quarter.

4. Composition of Pictures and American Art History.—Study of the principles of pictorial composition and of the masters and their works. More advanced problems of preceding terms. Summer quarter.

5. Design and Art History.—Principles of Design more fully illustrated. French and English art. Oil painting, outdoor sketching. Summer quarter.

6. Art History and Design.—Above continued. Drawing in connection with other subjects. School room decoration. Drawing courses. Supervision.

ENGLISH

JOHN B. WISELY, Professor.

ERLE ELSWORTH CLIPPINGER, Assistant Professor.

VICTOR C. MILLER, Assistant Professor.

The work of this department has for its subject-matter two units of language—the sentence and connected or related sentences, i. e., discourse. The first three courses offered below deal with the sentence; the others deal mainly with discourse. It is the purpose of the entire work to help the student to obtain for himself not only a knowledge of the science side of English, the principles, laws, and usages of standard English, but to give him also by much writing and speaking as much skill as possible in the use of language.

In the work on discourse three general lines are followed:

a. A critical study of models of the different forms of discourse is made for the purpose of enabling the student to discover the central idea in all discourse, the relations in the process as determined by the theme, and the laws of the process as determined by the mind addressed. For this purpose, masterpieces of our best writers are used as far as practicable. In this way the student becomes acquainted with the principles of discourse in their concrete embodiment, and forms a good standard by which to criticize his own writing.

b. The students are helped to formulate the above mentioned inferences into the science of discourse by reference to different texts on the subject.

c. A great deal of writing under careful criticism is required.

The following courses are offered:

1. The thought and its elements, the sentence and its parts, kinds of ideas and classes of words used in expressing them, modifiers, the simple sentence and classes of words used in forming it, their uses and modifiers, and the phrase. Each quarter.

2. The clause, the compound sentence, uses of words, phrases, and clauses in forming it; the complex sentence, uses of words, phrases, and clauses in forming it, with special emphasis upon the connectives in the complex sentence. Each quarter.

3. Parts of speech and their properties, the infinitive, and the participle. Each quarter.

Note.—In each of the preceding courses there are daily recitations, five days in the week. The required work in these courses must be taken before the student enters upon advanced courses.

4. Description and Narration.—The work deals with the discourse forms of description and narration and gives instruction in the theory and the practice of English composition. The theory of composition is taught by recitations based upon Clippinger's Illustrated Lessons in Composition and Rhetoric, supplemented by the best texts in our tolerably complete text-book reference library, and by oral and written exercises. The practice is obtained in the writing of daily themes, some of which are written in the class room, on topics announced after the class has assembled; and in the writing of longer themes prepared fortnightly.

The daily and long themes are carefully criticised by the teacher and returned to the student, most of them to be rewritten. Regular consultation hours are appointed and each student is required, at frequent intervals, to discuss his work with his teacher.

A good deal of reading is required in this course aside from text-books. The short stories of Hawthorne, Poe, Dickens, Kipling, Stevenson, together with the descriptions from some of these and from Thackeray and Irving are made use of in the course.

Students are not eligible to this course until the required work of the first three courses has been completed. Course 4 is required of all students for graduation. Each quarter.

5. Exposition.—The practical work of this course consists mainly in writing exposition and illustrates the work which may be required of high school students. The elements and the qualities of style are discussed and illustrated from standard authors.

The short daily themes and the longer weekly themes are carefully criticized. Explanations and comments upon these criticisms will receive much emphasis in class conferences, since the heavy work for the teacher of composition lies in marking the written work of pupils and helping them to correct their errors. Considerable emphasis is given to oral composition. This course has been planned especially to meet the needs of teachers of composition. Each quarter.

6. Argumentation.—The theory of argumentation is taught by recitations based upon Baker's Principles of Argumentation, supplemented by references to our text-book reference library. Students are required to prepare two complete written arguments of twenty-five to thirty pages each, for which they previously prepare complete written briefs. In addition to this each student debates at least three times orally. He is expected to prepare carefully briefs for these debates and to furnish the teacher with at least one written brief. The written arguments are carefully criticized by the teacher and returned to the student for rewriting. For purposes of debate, the class is divided into sections of four and the discussions of each section are carefully criticized in recitation by the members of other sections and by the teacher. Courses 4, 5, and 6 are required of all students who are majoring in English or in Literature. Fall and Spring quarters.

7. The Oration.—The purpose of the course is to study carefully, by lectures, class-room work, and writing, the forms of public address; to provide opportunity for the practice of the element of persuasion, discussed in course 6, and to emphasize the importance of style in public discourse.

Each student will write at least five addresses of about 1,000 words each. In the selection of topics and in the treatment of them students will be allowed considerable freedom, but they will be required to select such topics as will give them practice in the eulogy, platform or commemorative address, commencement address, after-dinner speech, etc.

In the way of models for study in this course, the students have access to Reed's Modern Eloquence, Warner's Library of the World's Best Literature, etc. Winter quarter.

8. Short Story Writing.—A course for advanced students. Summer quarter.

9. Rhetoric.—Analyses of literary masterpieces. Fall and Summer quarters.

10. History of the growth of English and a study of the text-books on the subject. Book reviews. Winter quarter.

11. Prose.—A study of the essay and the various forms of prose fiction. Winter quarter.

NOTE.—a. In each course there are daily recitations and conferences five days in the week. b. Students majoring in English should consult the head of the department with regard to the work.

MATHEMATICS

OSCAR LYNN KELSO, Professor.

FRANK RAWDON HIGGINS, Assistant Professor.

JAMES HARVEY BAXTER, Assistant Professor.

1. Teachers' Course in Arithmetic.—Topics: Definitions and expression of number, the fundamental operations, fractions, English and French systems of weights and measures, ratio, proportion, and involution and evolution. Arithmetic and Algebra co-ordinated. Every quarter.

2. Teachers' Course in Arithmetic.—Topics: Percentage and its application and mensuration. Arithmetic and Geometry co-ordinated. Every quarter.

3. Elementary Algebra I.—The conventions, the fundamental processes, the system of rational numbers, and their linear equations.

4. Elementary Algebra II.—Integral functions, fractional functions, simultaneous linear equations and quadratic equations introduced.

5. Elementary Algebra III.—Laws of exponential operation, irrational numbers, imaginaries, and quadratic equations.

6. Plane Geometry.—Elementary definitions, axioms, postulates, rectilinear figures, circles and constructions.

Fall and Spring quarters.

7. Plane Geometry.—Proportions, pencils of lines, parallels and anti-parallels, similar figures, partition of the perigon, mensuration and constructions. Winter and Summer quarters.

8. Solid and Spherical Geometry. Fall and Spring terms.

9. College Algebra I.—The usual topics of college algebra with special emphasis placed on those of more immediate interest and importance. Every quarter.

10. College Algebra II.—Infinite Series, Determinants, and theory of equations.

11. Trigonometry.—Functions, formulae, equations and solutions of triangles. Every quarter.

12. Analytic Geometry I.—Geometrical conceptions of the point with reference to its co-ordinates (Cartesian and polar). The straight line and its equation. The circle and its equation. A general view of the other conics preparatory to Course 13.

13. Analytic Geometry II.—A detailed study of the parabola, the ellipse and the hyperbola, the general equation of the second degree, some of the higher plane curves, and an introduction to Solid Analytic Geometry.

14. Calculus I.—Differential Calculus.

15. Calculus II.—Integral Calculus.

16. Differential Equations.

17. Theory of Equations.

18. Analytic Mechanics.

19. Projective Geometry.

20. The History and Teaching of Elementary Mathematics.

NOTE.—Courses 1 and 2 meet the requirements of the new law for twenty-four weeks of arithmetic as set forth in the courses for teachers of "Class C", and Courses 3 and 11 inclusive, are among the elective subjects called for in the new law for teachers of "Class C."

Graduates of commissioned and certified non-commissioned high schools, and others who have had the equivalent in mathematics, should begin their work in mathematics in Course 9. Students who are prepared to do so may carry more than one course in mathematics in a given term. It is not always necessary to take the courses in the order indicated in the catalogue. To avoid duplication of their work done elsewhere in mathematics, and to arrange their work to best advantage, students are urged to consult the department before making out programs.

LATIN

JOHN JACOB SCHLICHER, Professor.

FREDERICK HENRY WENG, Assistant Professor.

The first four courses below are counted as the equivalent of the first two years of Latin in the high school. Students in the College Course will do the reading of course 3 as outside work in connection with the class work of 1, 2 and 4.

Courses 6, 7 and 8 may be taken by graduates from the high school who have not taken them there. Students who have had four years of Latin in the high school will usually enter course 9, 10 or 11.

The grammar and composition courses, 5 and 10, and the more advanced courses intended for students taking Latin as their major, are more fully explained below.

1, 2. Elements of Latin.—The forms and common constructions of the language, with daily English and Latin exercises; detailed study of the structure of the two languages, and observation of the English words derived from Latin. Each of the courses is given twice a year.

3, 4. Easy Reading, Caesar.—The chief object is to gain facility in handling the common forms and constructions as they appear in narrative prose. Each course is given twice a year.

5a, 5b. Review of Grammar, with supplementary reading in Nepos or Caesar. Intended chiefly for students coming directly from the high school with two or three years of Latin, who feel the need of strengthening their knowledge of the grammar. It should not, as a rule, be taken by students of the College Course who have had more than two years of Latin in the high school.

Fall, Spring, and Summer.

6, 7a, 7b, 8. Cicero's Orations, Virgil's Aeneid, Ovid.—Particular stress is laid on careful oral and written translation. Virgil (7a, 7b) runs through two terms, Spring and Summer, Ovid (8) is given in the Fall and Spring, Cicero (6) in the Winter.

10a, 10b. Latin Composition, with studies in Caesar's Gallic War and Cicero's Orations. The composition is a systematic course, covering the whole of the syntax. The parts of Caesar and Cicero usually read in high schools are studied in outline, and special topics in grammar are considered in some detail with reference to the usage of these authors. The course should be taken only by those who have studied Caesar and Cicero, and will be most profitable to students who have had some terms of work beyond that.

Winter, and Spring or Summer.

9, 11, 12, 13. Sallust, Cicero (De Senectute and Letters), Terence, Livy.—The object is to acquire a wider knowledge of the Romans and their literature and language, and to gain some facility in connected prose composition. The courses in Sallust (9) and Cicero (11) are usually given twice a year, the others once a year. They may be taken by students who have read Virgil or Ovid.

14-21. The advanced courses outlined below are intended especially for students who take Latin as their major subject, but they may be taken by anyone else who can pursue them with profit. In addition to the authors mentioned, one or two hours a week are devoted to some line of collateral work, such as: Greek or Latin Literature, Ancient Art, Advanced Latin Grammar and Composition, Roman Life, Manuscripts, Inscriptions, Topography of Rome or Pompeii, or special courses for teachers. Four of the courses are given each year, and they are varied from time to time to avoid duplication on the part of students whose attendance is not consecutive.

14. Horace's Odes, Catullus.

15. Pliny and Martial.

16. Satire, or Comedy (Plautus).

17. Philosophy (Lucretius, or Seneca and Minucius Felix).

18. Mediaeval and Renaissance Latin.

19. Tacitus.

20. Cicero (advanced course).—The Letters and Tusculan Disputations.

21. Virgil (advanced course). The Eclogues, Georgics, and the last half of the Aeneid.

GERMAN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

FREDERICK GILBERT MUTTERER, Professor.

ROSE MARIAN COX, Assistant Professor.

German 1-3 is known as Elementary German; German 4 to 7 as Intermediate German; that above 7 is College German. Normal students who have finished the first seven terms' work are entitled to enter upon the College German Course and are advised to do so if they wish to pursue the subject further. The only condition put upon the student taking up work in the intermediate and advanced courses is, that he have the preparation to pursue the work he selects to his advantage. The student may take more than one course each term, provided he chooses such additional course or courses as he can profitably pursue.

1-3. Elementary German Course.—The aim of this course is a knowledge of the grammatical principles of the German language, an understanding of simple German conversation, the power of speaking and writing in simple sentences, and the ability to read easy German verse and prose. The German language is from the beginning, as far as possible, the medium of instruction. These courses can be taken only in their regular order, and the entire course, or a satisfactory equivalent in high school work, must precede any of the higher courses.

1. Elementary.—German grammar and reading, with composition. Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

2. Course 1 continued.

Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

3. Course 2 continued. Reading a modern short story or comedy, with composition and conversation.

Fall, Winter, Spring quarters.

4-7. Intermediate German.—Students who have finished the first three terms' work are eligible to 4 and 5. The aim is facility in interpreting any piece of German writing of ordinary difficulty rapidly and easily, expressing orally or in writing simple thoughts in German, and an acquaintance with German thought and manner of life through the literature. A systematic study of word forms, word derivations, idioms and German syntax will be made, and compositions required, and the grammar is reviewed. German is the medium of instruction.

Reading: Dramas, short stories, scientific and historical prose.

Authors: Lessing, Schiller, recent comedy writers, Gottfried Keller, C. F. Meyer, Ebner-Eschenbach, Wildenbruch, Storm, Riehl and others. Fall, Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

Courses 6 and 7 are courses in rapid reading of ordinary German prose, and free composition. The reading matter is selected from modern short stories, and novels.

Fall, Winter and Spring quarters.

Course 6b is a course in scientific and historical prose. It may be substituted for either 6 or 7. Summer quarter.

College German. Thirteen courses are offered in College German, designated by the numerals 8-18. Entering students who have completed three and one-half years of German in a good high school, or those who offer for entrance German an equivalent to a three and one-half years' course in German, are entitled to enter in any of the classes from 8 to 11. Courses 11-19 are for more advanced students in German.

In all these courses German will be the medium of instruction. In German 8-11 the reading work is supplemented by systematic essay writing and other composition exercises; reports on collateral reading. In all of the College German the works read are studied from the literary as well as from the linguistic standpoint. Each author is viewed in relation to his time. College students who have had no German or who have not had the required amount in the high school to take up courses 8-11, enter those classes in elementary or intermediate German for which they have adequate preparation.

Two classes in College German will be formed in the Fall, Winter and Spring quarters and at least one in the Summer quarter, one doing the work in courses 8 to 11; the other in 12-19. The work offered is:

8. Lessing.—Minna von Barnhelm, Emilia Galotti, Nathan der Weise, with collateral reading of Lessing's more important critical works. Fall quarter, 1913.

9. Schiller's Dramas.—Wallenstein, with collateral reading of other dramas. Winter quarter, 1914.

10. Goethe.—Goetz von Berlichingen, Hermann and Dorothea, with collateral reading of other works by the poet. Summer quarter, 1914.

11. Composition.—Daily short themes. Study of principles of composition. Spring quarter, 1914.

12. Goethe's Faust, Part I.

13. Goethe's Faust, Part II.

14. The Romantic School of German Literature.

Winter quarter, 1914.

15a. Kleist and Hebbel.

15b. Grillparzer and Ludwig.

Spring quarter, 1914.

16. The German Drama Since 1870.

17. The German Novel.

18.—Outline of German literature from the early beginnings to the classical period.

19.—Outline of German literature from the classical period to the present time. Fall quarter, 1913.

Der Deutsche Verein.—The German Department has for the last five years been maintaining a literary club, "Der Deutsche Verein." It has weekly meetings. The club offers an opportunity for practice in German conversation and public speaking. The programs are arranged with a view to study the manners, customs and history of the German people, and the geography of Germany.

The club usually closes the year's work with a dramatic entertainment. Any student in the German Department may become a member of the club on condition that he take active part in the work.

EUROPEAN HISTORY

FRANK SMITH BOGARDUS, Professor.

WILLIAM O. LYNCH, Assistant Professor.

The work of this department is so planned as to give an opportunity for three years' consecutive work in European history and two terms in Economics. The purpose is to lead the student to trace the growth of civilization among European peoples, and in this way to arrive at an intelligent conception of the life and institutions of the present time. In order to accomplish this purpose extensive use of the library in the way of reference reading is made by all classes. Special attention is paid to sources of information in all of the courses, the amount and difficulty of this work with source-material progressively increasing with the courses. It is believed that the use of source-material is better adapted to secure the growth of a truly scholarly attitude toward work than any other means at our command. The library is admirably equipped for the work of this department, the collection of works on English history being unusually complete.

Occasional lectures and discussions of the pedagogical phases of the work find a place in all of the courses. The thought that they are some time to teach this subject to their own pupils is kept before the students.

A thesis of moderate length on a specially assigned topic is required of all College Course students. This paper must be accompanied by bibliography and references.

It is believed that the completion of these courses will prepare the industrious student to teach the subject acceptably in the elementary and secondary schools.

STATEMENT OF COURSES

1. Greek History—This course begins with a brief survey of the Oriental nations by way of introduction. The Greek history discusses the political and social life of the Greeks down to the establishment of the Roman Supremacy. Text: Botsford.

Fall and Spring quarters.

2. Roman History.—This course extends to the "Fall of the Empire." Special attention is given to the economic element in the evolution of Roman national life. Text: Pelham.

Winter and Summer quarters.

3. History of the Middle Ages to the close of the Fifteenth century. The work of the term is gathered around the medieval church and the growth of national states.

Fall and Spring quarters.

4. English History A.—This course deals with English history to the year 1547. The industrial and constitutional phases of the subject are emphasized. Lectures and assigned work.

Fall and Spring quarters.

5. English History B.—The period in English history from 1547 to 1815 is covered in this course. Lectures and assigned work.

Winter and Summer quarters.

6. English History C.—Period, 1815-1900. The democratizing of the English government. Economic, social, and political reform. Lecture Course.

Spring quarter.

7. Modern European History.—The attention of the student in this course is centered upon the continental nations of western Europe, England receiving only incidental attention on account of the fact that courses devoted to English history are offered as courses 4, 5, and 6. The same thing so far as England is concerned is true of course 3. Text: Robinson's Western Europe.

Winter and Summer quarters.

8. History of Continental Europe in the Nineteenth Century.—The development of the modern world under the influence of the Industrial Revolution is the leading topic in this course. Text: Robinson and Beard, Vol. II.

Fall and Spring quarters.

9. The Revolutionary and Napoleonic Era, 1789-1815.—A study of revolutionary Europe, 1789-1815. The causes of the French Revolution receive special attention. Text: Rose's Revolutionary and Napoleonic Era.

Summer quarter.

ECONOMICS

1. A course in the elements of Political Economy, with a discussion of the principal economic problems of the present time. Text: Seager's Briefer Course.

Winter and Summer quarters.

2. General Industrial History, with special reference to the development of industries in England. Text: Cheyney's Industrial History.

NOTE.—College credits may be made in all courses.

ZOOLOGY AND BOTANY AND AGRICULTURE

ULYSSES ORANGE COX, Professor.

FRED DONAGHY, Acting Assistant Professor.

HORACE POWELL, Laboratory Assistant.

In addition to the usual morphology in zoology and botany, special attention is given to systematic relationships, life histories and ecology. Frequent field excursions constitute a required part of the work.

The purpose of the work of this department is not so much the teaching of anatomical facts as the habits of living organisms and to instill in those who pursue these subjects the habits of correct observation and a love for nature.

The courses offered are intended to be of college grade unless otherwise indicated. Students who take any of the work for normal credit are required to spend at least two hours daily on each of the subjects in the laboratory or class-room, and college students three hours daily.

ZOOLOGY.

Eight courses are offered in zoology. The first three are devoted to a thorough study of general zoology and consist of daily recitations and laboratory work. Other courses will be announced later. Students may begin the subject with either course 1, 2 or 3. As to terms, the subject is divided about as follows:

1. Lower Invertebrates.—A study of the lower invertebrates up to and including insects. Careful attention is given to the study of the cell under protoza, and life histories and economic relationships are important phases of the insect work. Students are required to make accurate dissections of the chief types of animals represented in these groups. This is a part of the special course in Agriculture. Fall, Spring and Summer quarters.

2. Mollusks, Primitive Vertebrates and Fishes.—Considerable attention is given to the systematic study of fishes.

Winter quarter.

3. Batrachians, Reptiles, Birds and Mammals.—Besides the dissection of the types of each group, special attention is given to systematic and ecological relationships, and students are expected to familiarize themselves with the common batrachians, reptiles, birds and mammals of the region. This is included in the course in Agriculture. Spring quarter.

4. General Histology of Animal Forms.—This is chiefly a laboratory course in which the student is given an opportunity to learn the methods employed in histology and to prepare for himself a set of microscopical slides.

5. A continuation of the work begun in course 4. Winter quarter.

6. Embryology and Advanced Ecology. Spring quarter.

7. General Biological Problems.—This course considers the theory of organic evolution as to its various phases and factors. It is a lecture and library course and the class will meet twice each week. Two-fifths of a credit or two hours will be given each term for this work. The course will interest students of botany as well as those of zoology. Fall, Winter and Spring quarters.

8. Advanced Zoology.—A study of special groups. Open to advanced students. Through the year.

BOTANY

Eight courses are offered in botany. The first three courses are devoted to general botany and include daily recitations and laboratory work. Other courses will be announced later. Students may begin the subject with either course 1, 2, 3 or 7.

1. Algae and Fungi.—The subjects for this course are: The plant cell, slime fungi, bacteria, diatoms, algae and fungi. Each type is carefully studied in the laboratory and students are expected to collect, identify and preserve specimens of those forms that can be easily preserved. This course will be included in the special course in Agriculture. Fall and Spring quarters.

2. The Mosses and Ferns.—In addition to a careful study of the structure of the leading types, students learn to identify the common forms. Winter and Summer quarters.

3. The Seed Plants.—A careful study of the higher seed plants is made and students are required to carry on experiments in germination and related subjects. During the later part of the course a systematic study of the more common flowering plants of Indiana is made. This is a part of the special course in Agriculture. Spring quarter.

4. Physiological Botany.—This is chiefly a laboratory course, but it is supplemented by frequent lectures and library work. Students who expect to enter this course should have had courses 1, 2 and 3, and some knowledge of chemistry is desirable.

Summer and Fall quarters.

5. Plant Histology.—This is a laboratory course, in which the student is given an opportunity to familiarize himself with the methods employed in plant histology, and to prepare a set of microscopical slides. The laboratory is fully equipped with warm oven, microtomes and other necessary apparatus for this work.

Winter quarter.

6. A General Laboratory and Field Course.—The laboratory work deals chiefly with plant embryology and the field work with ecology. To enter this course students must have had courses 1, 2 and 3, or their equivalent.

Spring quarter.

7. Forestry.—A careful study is made of the common trees and shrubs of Indiana with special reference to reforestation in our own State and forestry in general. So far as practicable each student makes a collection of leaves, woods and other forest products. The work consists of daily recitations and laboratory work. Open to beginners. This course may be taken as part of the special course in Agriculture.

Summer quarter.

8. A Study of Special Groups.—Open to advanced students.

Through the year.

NATURE STUDY AND AGRICULTURE

The new vocational law has created a demand for teachers who can teach Agriculture. It is well recognized that, first of all, a teacher of Agriculture must be well trained in the various sciences, and with this view in mind the Indiana State Normal School is preparing to offer a course in Agriculture which shall consist of work in the various sciences concerned, together with a few terms' work in General Agriculture. This course will soon be announced in a special bulletin.

1. General Agriculture.—This course consists of a discussion and laboratory study of the various phases of Agriculture such as plant and animal breeding, soil fertility, farm crops, farm animals, beneficial and injurious insects and their control, fruits and fruit growing, poultry, etc., and includes methods of teaching the subject in the public schools. Through the year.

MANUAL TRAINING AND DOMESTIC SCIENCE

MERIT LEES LAUBACH, Professor.

IVAH RHYAN, Assistant Professor.

WM. C. UNVERFERTH, Laboratory Assistant.

The various courses in this department are organized to give instruction in those forms of hand work that are most suitable for school use; these forms will be studied from the teacher's point of view. The work is planned to meet the needs of both the special teacher and the regular grade teacher. Seven rooms have been equipped with the best benches, tools and machinery that money can buy. The following courses are now offered in this department:

- 1 course in Elementary Manual Training.
- 1 course in Pottery.
- 3 courses in Bench Work.
- 3 courses in Wood Turning and Pattern Making.
- 1 course in History and Organization of Manual Training.
- 3 courses in Sewing.
- 4 courses in Mechanical and Architectural Drawing.
- 3 courses in Cooking.

It is planned to add other courses from time to time as the needs and conditions may require.

The demand for competent teachers of manual training and Domestic Science is much greater than the supply. The demand for graduates of the Indiana State Normal School, who can teach these subjects is steadily increasing. During the past school year calls have come for a large number of teachers for this work, a number far in excess of the supply. In many localities teachers are sought who can teach some manual training work during a portion of the day and common branches during the remaining part of the day. Better salaries are paid to teachers of this class than to those who can teach the common branches only. Officials of the school will at all times extend such aid as can properly be done in securing positions for teachers of this line of work.

Students should arrange to enter at the beginning of the term, when possible. When this is not feasible, students should consult with the head of the department as to what classes they should enter. School accommodations limit the number in each class and enrollment will be made in the order of application. Any student eligible to take up Normal school work may be enrolled for classes in this department. As there are several beginning classes, students may elect to take one or more subjects each term.

A student may begin work in this department by electing Elementary Manual Training, Pottery, Wood-work, Sewing 1, or Mechanical Drawing 1. Students enrolled in the college course may receive college credits in all courses in Mechanical Drawing, and in the advanced courses in other lines offered in this department by doing extra work assigned.

1. Elementary Manual Training.—This course is especially adapted to the needs of teachers of the grade schools. It includes practical work in weaving, clay modeling, paper construction, cord work, crocheting, knitting, coarse needlework and basketry. The industrial phase of each process is given especial attention.

Fall, Spring and Summer quarters.

1. Pottery.—A course in clay work in which the methods used in making school pottery are taught. Design, glazing, firing and use of kiln are given special attention. Spring quarter.

WOOD WORK

1. Wood Work.—This is a beginning course in benchwork in wood and mechanical drawing, and aims primarily to give a training in the technical processes as a basis for teaching in the seventh and eight grades. Instruction is given in the use, construction and care of tools. A study is made of the growth of woods, their qualities and structure. Students are expected to design models and work out projects to meet certain conditions. Working drawings are made for a large part of the course, and the reading of drawings is an important feature throughout.

Every quarter.

2. Wood Work.—This course carries on the work of the preceding course in an effort to give a more thorough training in wood-working as a basis for teaching in the upper grammar grades. Special attention is given for the consideration of courses suitable for these grades. Every quarter.

3. Wood Work.—Wood-working for Secondary Schools. The work in this course is more advanced work and aims to prepare for the teaching of wood-working in the secondary school. It deals largely with joinery and is governed in its arrangements by the difficulty of tool operations. A practical application of joinery is made in constructing furniture. In courses 1, 2 and 3 considerable attention is given to methods of finishing and to simple means of decoration. Spring and Summer quarters.

4. Wood Turning.—This course deals with various methods of turning in soft and hard woods. Spring and Summer quarters.

5. Pattern Making.—This course covers fundamental principles and processes involved in pattern-making. It includes enough foundry practice to demonstrate some of the principles of patternmaking. Spring quarter.

6. Pattern Making.—Advanced pattern-making, including globe valve, spoke pulleys, spur and bevel gears. Spring quarter.

7. History and Organization of Manual Training.—This course consists of lectures on the history of manual training, and discussion of various educational phases of the work. Problems relating to the organization of manual training, equipment and cost are discussed. Students are required to write papers on subjects assigned and to outline courses of work for grades and high school. Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

MECHANICAL DRAWING

1. Mechanical Drawing.—This course is devoted chiefly to principles and practice of working drawings and serves as an introduction to the subject. It covers the fundamentals of what should be taught in the upper grammar grades and lower high school grades, involving lettering, care and use of instruments, elementary geometrical construction, orthographic projections, development of surfaces, isometric and cabinet projections. Fall, Spring and Summer quarters.

2. Machine Drawing.—This is a practical course in machine-drawing considered with special reference to the needs of high school work. It includes the development of helix and application in V and square threads; conventional threads, bolt and nut;

the making of freehand working sketches of machine parts; detailed drawings; assembled drawings; tracing and blue prints.

Every quarter.

3. Advanced Course.—An advanced course considered with special reference to the needs of more advanced high school work involving shades and shadows; mechanical perspective; heart cams and irregular cams; the cycloid and involute curves, their application to spur and bevel gear drawing.

Spring quarter.

4. Architectural Drawing.—The purpose of this course is to give instruction in the methods used in making building plans. It consists of floor plans, elevation and working details of frame and brick buildings.

Spring quarter.

SEWING

1. Elementary Sewing.—This course deals with hand processes used in development of seams, bands, gussets, plackets, patches, darns, art-needle work, etc. Textiles are presented from point of view of purchaser. Manufacturing processes, simple tests, microscopical and chemical tests are included in this course.

Every quarter.

2. Garment Making.—The fundamental principles of garment making are presented. Students draft, make and adjust patterns to measurements, model in crinoline, cut and finish a suit of undergarments, also tailored shirt waist and shirt. Textile fabrics are considered in relation to value and purpose. Market fabrics in cotton, linen, woolens and silks are identified and graded by each student. Estimates are made upon cost and quantity of material for each garment.

Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

3. Dressmaking.—This course includes history and design of costume, advanced work in drafting, cutting, fitting and finishing of gowns. Some time is given to study of equipment and courses of study for grade and high schools.

Spring quarter.

COOKING

1. Cooking.—This course is planned on the basis of food principles. Foods are considered as to their origin, chemical composition principles involved in cooking, digestibility, economic and dietetic value. Prerequisite Chemistry 1 and 2.

Fall, Spring and Summer quarters.

2. Cooking.—Continuation of Cooking 1. Prerequisite—Qualitative analysis, 1 term.

Winter, Spring and Summer quarters.

3. Cooking.—This course covers fundamental principles of dietetics, relation of food to climate, age, occupation, etc. Dietaries, invalid cookery and serving are considered. Prerequisite, Chemistry of foods. Spring quarter.

PUBLIC SPEAKING AND READING

CHARLES BALDWIN BACON, Professor.

MARY ELINOR MORAN, Assistant Professor.

READING

The courses in Reading are planned to remove the faults common to most readers—such as indistinctness and inaccuracy in pronunciation—and to develop in the student a power of expression that will enable him to express the full meaning of our great masterpieces of English and American literature. The work is based upon the principle that the best oral expression naturally follows a keen and discriminating appreciation of the thought and the spirit of what is read. The student, therefore, is taught that good reading is not merely an accurate pronunciation of words, but that it is the interpretation of the life and spirit of literature.

Reading 1 must precede all of the other reading courses except 3, which may be taken independently. Courses 2, 4, 5 and 6 may be taken in any order after 1.

1. Reading and Literature.—This course makes a study of the fundamental elements of conversational tones and their relation to mental action, viz., phrasing, subordination, pitch, pause, inflection, stress, tone-color and movement. This theory is constantly applied to the literature to be read. Constant attention, also, is paid to phonics and correct articulation. Each quarter.

2. Reading and Literature.—This course is a counterpart to 1, and deals with emotional reaction. The spirit underlying each piece is studied. The imaginative and emotional elements are discovered. The effort centers in giving proper expression to the wide range of emotional subtleties. Each quarter.

3. Myths, Legends, and Folk-lore.—The aim and purpose of this course is to acquaint the students with a body of knowledge usable in the grades and high schools, in history work, literature and mythology. Also to give daily oral drill in telling and interpreting the same. The course is organized with two special ends in view. History in the lower grades has direct reference to myths and folk-lore, and the interpretation of these myths is the business of the course. Again modern literature has continual recourse to mythology, which if known adds much to the pleasure of its study. The course begins with the Aryan myths and develops them through Greek and Northern Mythology and Medieval Legend in to modern times, thus giving unity to the vast body of folk-lore to which this age is heir. The second special end of this course, is to give students ease and poise while speaking without notes before an audience, and to develop the principles of story-telling and interestingness. The attention of students wishing to take this course is called to Public Speaking 4. Each quarter.

4. An advanced course in oral expression. It is the purpose of this course to deal with some of the more difficult writers of prose and poetry. Writers who are idealistic and philosophic in thought, or abstract in expression. Writers whose sentences have to be filled out by the mind of the reader. Selections will accordingly be made from Emerson, Browning, Wordsworth, Shelley, Carlyle, and Macaulay. In this course, interpretation of the thought and spirit precede the expression and the relation of the two is carefully considered. Winter and Spring quarters.

5. A course in phonics and the laws of articulation and speech. The relation of the voice to the body and the mind. The correlation of voice and sound. Eye training in relation to oral expression, breath control, poise. Vocabulary and the use of language in so far as they relate to reading. Dr. S. S. Curry's Mind and Voice or the Principles and Methods of Voice Training is the textbook used. Spring quarter.

6. Literature for the Grades.—The purpose of this course is to take up the literature for the grades, as outlined in the State Course of Study, and read them for the double purpose of interpretation and expression. The simpler laws of literary method are thus inductively developed, and the fact is made clear that a piece of literature is an organism. The information and practice gained in this course ought to be of immediate application in the work of the seventh and eighth grades, and first year of the high school.

Omitted in 1913-14.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

The purpose of the courses in Public Speaking is to train teachers to be vigorous, convincing speakers, before any audience. Frequently teachers fail to reach the highest success because of their inability to tell what they know with clearness and ease. This work, then, should be of practical value to those who expect to teach. High schools now have annual oratorical and debating contests for which their representatives should receive special training. These courses give the prospective teacher just such instruction as will fit him to do this work. They may be taken in any order. It is not necessary that they be preceded by the courses in Reading, these being entirely independent.

1. Debating.—These courses deal with the art of debate. The class is taken through the various elements of debate, beginning with the central idea of a resolution, the laws of support, the motives to which to appeal, together with the arrangement of sub-ideas. After each debate there is a discussion of the issues underlying the question and to what extent each side approached them. Toward the end of the term attention is directed to the art of rebuttal. Course 1 is offered in the Fall and course 2 in the Spring quarter. As the subjects for debate are different each term, a student may receive credit for both terms, and take them in either order.

Winter quarter.

2, 3 and 4. Public Speaking.—This course offers daily drill in Oratory. This work is based upon Phillips' Effective Speaking. The student is carried through one element of delivery at a time, constantly preparing talks, speeches and orations, with the view of putting into practice some definite principle of construction or of delivery. These courses, like Reading 3, have the double purpose of giving the student a body of organized knowledge which makes for general culture and, on the other hand, of giving an opportunity of daily oral drill before the class in talking intelligently before an audience without notes. The subjects for these talks, speeches and orations are taken from current events. By current events, we do not mean events of passing interest, but the happenings whose roots strike back into the past, and which will be of recurrent interest in the future. The studies will not be confined to any one field of activity, but will include art, education, economics, domestic and foreign affairs, letters, politics and science. As these three courses offer different material and subjects, credit in each course will be given.

Fall and Spring quarters.

5. A Course in Bodily Expression.—Daily drills. The causes and the laws of gesture are studied and put in practice. Control of muscular action, consideration of the best action suited to public speech and the sources of power in expression. How to appeal to the understanding, emotions and the will. Efforts to express character through conversation, and differentiations of character through varying expression. Studies in the principles of dramatic structure. The work of this course is based upon Greek plays and those of Shakespeare. Winter quarter.

NOTE.—The Department wishes to call attention to the opportunities which will be offered next year in public work. A Triangular League for debating has been established with the Normal College, Normal, Illinois, and the Normal School, Oshkosh, Wisconsin. In addition to these are two inter-society debates between the girls' and boys' societies.

Students may receive credit in the College Course for work done in the Department of Reading and Public Speaking in any one of the following elective courses: Courses 3, 4, 5 and 6 in Reading and Courses 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 in Public Speaking.

MUSIC

GLADYS BOTSFORD, Professor.

1. Teachers' Graded Course in Public School Music.—Topics: Rudiments of music arranged in logical order; study of rhythm, elementary ear-training; sight-reading preparatory to teaching in the grades. Each quarter.

2. Sight-reading, ear-training and study of rhythm, continued.

3. Sight-reading, ear-training and study of rhythm, continued.

4. Harmony.—First term of Harmony, including the study of intervals, triads and inversions, transposition, hidden fifths and octaves, chords of the seventh and their inversions, figured bass, cadences, chromatic changes, modulation, etc.

5. History of Music.—This course is open to all students whether they have taken any of the preceding courses or not. It may not be substituted for Course 1.

6. Method of presenting music in the public school. All students who have taken Music 1 are advised to take this course.

7. An advanced course in work necessary for supervisors. It includes a brief study of musical form and advanced work in ear-training and sight-reading.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

ALFRED F. WESTPHAL, Professor (Men).

EDITH A. BAILEY, Professor (Women).

The aim of physical training is to develop man to his highest efficiency and to what nature intended him to be. Careful and systematic exercise of the body is a necessity to the fully trained teacher if he would build up a reserve of bodily energy from which he may draw in time of need. Rousseau says, "The weaker the body the more it commands; the stronger the body the more it obeys. A feeble body weakens the mind. If you desire your pupil should improve in mental abilities, let him improve the corporeal strength which is subject to their direction. Let his body have continued exercise." The greatest thing desired in this department is that prime physical condition called fitness—fitness for work, fitness for play, fitness for anything a man or woman may be called upon to do.

Graded calisthenics, marching apparatus work and games form the basis of class work in the gymnasium.

Calisthenic drill work consists of free-hand, wand, dumb-bell, and Indian club exercise. Graded apparatus work forms part of the regular class period, using the buck, horse, parallel bars, horizontal bar, ladder, rings, and mat work or tumbling. Advanced gymnastics are also given in addition to fencing and wrestling.

As competitive athletics are everywhere recognized as being essential, and conducive to loyalty and school spirit in its best sense, Normal basket-ball, base-ball and track teams will receive regular and systematic coaching. Swimming is also taught during the summer terms.

Parsons Athletic Field is equipped with base-ball diamond, running track and tennis courts. Physical examinations and tests are given to determine the character and amount of corrective work needed. The two gymnasiums are equipped with modern appliances and apparatus for developing and training the body. Lectures are given on personal hygiene and physical defects common to school children. Also, graded calisthenics—grades 1 to 8. Two terms in this department are required, for which one credit is given. The Athletic Association is active, and both men and women are eligible to membership. Inter-class games are also held during the year in addition to those regularly scheduled for representative teams.
