Report of the Faculty Senate Chairperson – James Gustafson

I want to start by saying thank you to the members of the Board of Trustees for your time and your commitment to Indiana State University. I am here as chair of the University Faculty Senate to give a quick update on our work in shared governance. At your October meeting, I outlined four goals that we are pursuing in faculty senate this year:

The first was equitable compensation. I am pleased to report that this month, about fifty of the lowest paid tenured and tenure-track faculty in rank received their equity-based salary adjustment based on the plan approved in October by the President and Provost. We are thankful for the progress made in this area and would like to continue discussing ways to provide more equitable compensation, including for instructors and temporary faculty. Secondly, we are working to restructure our faculty governance operations. The University Faculty approved a plan to reduce the size of the Faculty Senate with an overwhelming 87.6% in favor. The vote concluded just a few days past the deadline to get that proposal on the Board's agenda for today, so you should expect to see this at your next meeting. We also just received final language on a proposal that would reduce the size and number of our standing committees. The goal of these efforts is to streamline our governance operations and ensure that as much faculty time as possible is committed to the university's missions of student success and the production of knowledge.

Our third goal is to address the climate surrounding diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts. We are continuing to work with the deans of the Bayh College of Education and College of Arts and Sciences on a cluster hire around diversity in higher education with efforts to recruit a diverse candidate pool. We are also working with the Faculty Affairs Committee's Subcommittee on Minoritized Faculty Concerns to ensure we create better support structures for these, and future, new faculty hires, particularly faculty of color. We are also looking forward to seeing the results of the campus climate survey in February which we expect will further inform our work in this area.

The Faculty Senate also recently approved changes to the Discipline and Dismissal procedures to ensure we have a fair and functional system in place to deal with faculty misconduct and ensure due process. We are also in dialogue with the Provost and the faculty ombuds office to discuss ways we can better address incidents of harassment and discrimination in the workplace. We are especially concerned that most such incidents go unreported through formal channels. It speaks to a need for creating a culture of accountability, ensuring that department chairs and deans are held responsible for ensuring a safe workplace free of harassment and discrimination.

Our fourth and final goal relates to ensuring there is a clear vision for the future of the institution behind the changes being made to address budget and enrollment issues. I mentioned in October that there was considerable anxiety among faculty over this issue. That was only heightened by the announcement before the holidays that at least $12 million will be cut from the operating budget beginning next year. The president communicated to campus that this may include a substantial restructuring of the university and that it may potentially include laying off faculty members, even those in tenured positions., which is an extraordinary action. The Faculty Senate officers have made every effort to be good partners in this process. We are pleased that the Provost has pledged to follow the Policy Library procedures for structural changes to academic units which allows for affected faculty units and our Curriculum and Academic Affairs Committee to have a voice in the process. Our interests are first and foremost in ensuring that there is a sustainable institution on the other side of this, and that the process for making and communicating decisions is as equitable and humane as possible. At this point, we are in mid-hiring season on the national market and we fear it will already be too late for faculty affected by layoffs to find positions for next year. It is a difficult situation. We are trying to balance the need to make changes with deliberate speed to address the university's immediate needs, with ensuring the decisions are sound and faculty have time to participate and respond.

It has been a challenging year, but we are moving forward, having difficult conversations, and thinking big about ways we can remake Indiana State in a time of great uncertainty.

Report of the Staff Council Chairperson – Morgan Leek

Good afternoon, colleagues. This semester has been busy for Staff Council and not just with our usual fundraising. We held our annual holiday ornament sale and another lunchtime bingo. Staff Council also hosted the ISU Bleeds Blue Blood Drive on December 1st where we had a wonderful turnout. Our Executive Committee brought in two representatives from the Red Cross to teach our Staff Council representatives how to perform Hands Only CPR. Our goal for this year was to have more intention with the things that we were doing as a council and I believe that the previous items mentioned are a very strong start. We will hopefully be able to offer more substantial events to highlight our staff, faculty, and student engagement in the Spring.

On behalf of Staff Council, I would like to express gratitude to our dedicated and hard-working staff. Whether it's acknowledged or not, the work that is done by every single one of our employees here makes a huge impact. Thank you for all your contributions to ISU over the last semester. Wishing everyone a safe and happy holiday season and congratulations to our graduates!

Report of the Student Government Association President – Josie Angel

Thank you, Ms. Cabello and Good Afternoon, Board of Trustees:

It is my pleasure to provide an update on the progress and goals of the 60th Administration of Student Government Association.

Since our last update in October, we have made significant steps toward our platform objectives and hosted exceptional campus programming.

We just wrapped up our annual Scholarship Fair; however, this year it was slightly different as we hosted multiple fairs with one in each college. The turnout was incredible with over 100 students in attendance at each fair and some being significantly greater than that. Students were educated on the scholarships available within their college and across campus to best inform them of opportunities available. Following the fairs, student attendees were entered to win 7 $150 scholarships with support from the ISU Foundation.

We also just wrapped up our Spring 2023 Student Organization Resource Funding process. We had an incredible 37 student organizations apply for program funding for the spring semester in which we allocated over $17,000 to student organizations so we are looking forward to a fun-filled spring with events all across campus. We appreciate the support from the Division of Student Affairs to make this possible.

Early November we hosted a Student Tailgate at a Men's Basketball Game in which students stopped by to get free hot dogs, cookies, and drinks before the game. We had a great turnout and SGA and the student body is super excited by the success of the men's basketball team thus far.

Our team also hosted an alcohol abuse awareness event and last week hosted an event titled "Mind Over Matter" which encouraged students to take a break from studying with yoga and meditation to support our important platform of mental health advancement.

In our sustainability initiatives, we just hosted an event titled "Nuts over Guts" in which student organizations were challenged to create sustainable plant-based meals. We just selected and had approved by our governing body the first SGA Director of Sustainability, KT Vorhees, who will begin her role in January and we're looking forward to having her join us to plan more sustainable events.

SGA also had the pleasure of joining public safety on the annual lighting and safety tour and we are thankful for their continued work to make our campus a safe environment for all students. We recently had the opportunity to host a SGA Shared Governance Dinner in which leaders from Rose-Hulman and St. Mary of the Woods College joined us on campus in the Dede's to share ideas about initiatives we're focusing on.

Happening right now is a tree display of all Terre Haute college campuses in front of the Terre Haute court house. I would encourage you to stop by and check out ISU SGA's as I would say we have the best tree out of all of them.

This spring we're looking forward to hosting black history month programming, the second annual snow-cial in partnership with many other organizations quickly upon our return, and a large end of year celebration to honor 60 years of SGA at Indiana State.

Our team has worked so hard this fall to advocate and provide meaningful student experiences on campus and I'm so excited to see all our ideas and plans come together this spring. Thank you!

Report of the Vice President for Advancement and CEO of the ISU Foundation – Andrea Angel

Good afternoon. As we celebrate our newest alumni this evening and tomorrow, our division has had a celebratory feel since November. On Friday, November 4, we hosted the President's Dinner celebrating Distinguished Alumni and transformational philanthropy. Thank you to all that were able to attend this incredible evening celebrating our donors and alumni that have a positive impact on our students and university.

We continued our festivity into November and December with the delivery of our recognition boxes to new endowment donors, members of the 1865 society, and Book and Torch society honorees. Goodies and awards fill these boxes but the most important element is a video card with appreciation videos from students and faculty that were personally impacted by the donor's philanthropy. We have received a great deal of positive feedback from our donors regarding these boxes. Coming later this month are recognition for our President's Society donors, Dale McKee Society donors that have given consecutively to the university for 5, 10, or 25 years and appreciation gifts to our dynamic foundation board of directors. As we all know, cultivating donors and raising funds is paramount for our division but equally as important is showing our sincere gratitude to those who give back.

In closing, I am pleased to report our development results through the first five months of our current fiscal year. These totals do not include a gift you will hear about later in the meeting. Gifts to Indiana State University totaled $7.9 million dollars through five months. A few important trends reflected in this overall number include:

- 11 new endowed funds created
- 529 donors have given at the President's Society level or above
- $3.4 million in giving to the ISU Endowment

Thank you again for allowing me to report on our important work. Happy Holidays everyone!

Report of the University President – Deborah Curtis

- At the last Board of Trustee meeting, I reported our start to the biennial state budget process. Our first budget presentation to the Commission for Higher Education was in October.
- Earlier this week, I presented our budget request to The State Budget Committee
 - Our number one priority Capital Request was for a:

 - When that R&R project is accomplished, this facility will become the Center for Technology, Engineering and Design at Indiana State University.
- These presentations will continue after the first of the calendar year.

Campus Updates

- Early in November, we received notification that ISU was selected as a Most Engaged Campus for College Student Voting.
 - ISU joined 394 other colleges and universities earning this recognition.
 - Kudos to Vice President Nancy Rogers and her division for this great work.
- Indiana State University continues to be ranked nationally by two surveys that identify universities that have the greatest impact on the social mobility of their graduates.
 - The Economic Mobility Index – Third Way – ranks ISU this year in the top 12% nationally for this important work.
 - The CollegeNET Social Mobility Index ranks ISU in the top 17.5% nationally which acknowledges us for the eighth year in a row for this recognition.
- Here's why this is important: Every Commencement ceremony like the ones we'll participate in this weekend, Indiana State University fills the middle class for the state of Indiana.
- This is who we are and what we do better than most universities around this great nation.
- So, today we are grateful for this recognition that encourages the work we do year in and year out, about which we are most enthusiastic.

- The ISU Basketball season started the first week in November. It is an exciting start to the second season with Coach Schertz (MBB) and Coach Killinger (WBB). Please make plans to attend a few of the games this season. They are off to a very exciting start. Go Sycamores!
- Although we have just passed the Thanksgiving season, I feel it is more than appropriate to say a few words of thanks to conclude this report.
- I want to say thank you to the inspirational people around us here at Indiana State University who contribute to our mission to educate and graduate wonderful students who take their place in our economy and the greater society.
- Inspiration comes in many forms on this delightful campus.
 - We have world-class faculty who invest their time and energy into the development of our students every day. They display a passion that is palpable.
 - Our dedicated and talented staff work diligently to support our students and faculty in the teaching and learning efforts on this campus.
 - In particular, our facilities and grounds crews maintain a glorious campus for us that is steeped in history, beauty, and evidence of tender care.
 - And especially today, we are truly grateful to a couple who has chosen to make a transformational gift to Indiana State University that will positively impact future members of this ISU family for generations to come.
 - We will say more about Steve and Gloria Bailey a little later on, but today I want to personally tell them what an inspiration they both are to all of us, and to me in particular.
 - You have put the wind in our sails!
- What a great time to be here at Indiana State University!

Trustee Cabello, this concludes my report.

3c2 Proposed Modifications to Policy 651 Red Flags

Rationale: As part of a regular policy review, the administration has identified the need to update the policy. Specifically, the policy modifications comply with the Federal Trade Commission Red Flags Rule regarding the establishment of an Identity Theft Prevention Program.

651.1 Requirements

This policy establishes Indiana State University's Identity Theft Prevention Program, which helps protect students, employees and others who have certain accounts with the university. The program is designed to detect, prevent, and mitigate theft as required by the Federal Trade Commission's Red Flag Rule and the Fair and Accurate Credit Transaction Act.

651.2 Definitions

Covered Account. A consumer account designed to permit multiple payments or transactions, and any other account which there is a reasonable foreseeable risk of identity theft, including, but not limited to:

- Student accounts established for the payment of tuition, fees, room, board, and other charges related to university activities; and;
- Personal accounts through which students/employees receive wages, reimbursements, or refunds; and;
- Accounts tied to university identification cards.

Customer. A person who has a covered account with the university. A customer may be a student, employee, or other individual.

Identity Theft. A fraud committed or attempted using the identifying information of another person without his or her authority.

Red Flag. A pattern, practice or specific activity that could indicate identity theft.

651.3 Identity Theft Prevention Program

The university is committed to protecting its students, faculty, staff, and others who entrust their personal information with the university. Common Red Flags include:

1. Receipt of Notice of Dispute from a credit agency;
2. Identification document or card that appears to be forged, altered or inauthentic;
3. Identification document or card on which a person's photograph or physical description is not consistent with the person presenting the document;
4. Inconsistencies in information among different documents presented by the customer (example: inconsistent birth dates);
5. Identifying information presented by the customer that is inconsistent with other sources of information;
6. Social Security number presented that is the same as one given by another student or employee; and

7. Notice to the university from an external source, student, or employee that an account has unauthorized activity.

The Identity Theft Prevention Program consists of this policy, which identifies common Red Flags, and other policies and procedures to detect and respond to Red Flags that occur. The Senior Vice President for Finance and Administration is responsible for the Policy and establishment of an Identity Theft Prevention Committee to be charged with overseeing the program.

The Committee is responsible for ensuring that reasonable policies and procedures exist to identify, detect, and respond to Red Flags relating to covered accounts. The Committee is charged with reviewing existing university policies and procedures related to identity theft and incident reporting, and developing new policies and procedures as needed to ensure that the university maintains a high level of due diligence with respect to preventing, detecting, and mitigating identity theft. The Committee will be responsible for establishing and maintaining routine training for staff in relevant positions, including training in how to identify a Red Flag, how to report a Red Flag, and how to mitigate against identity theft in Covered Accounts. The Committee will also provide a report to the Senior Vice President for Finance and Administration in the fall, following the close of each fiscal year, regarding the University's compliance with the Red Flags Rule.

Recommendation: Approval of the proposed modifications to Policy 651 Red Flags.

3c3 Proposed Modification to Policy 710 Use of University Facilities

Rationale: Indiana recently expanded free speech protections on public college and university campuses by preventing public colleges and universities from discriminating against or denying benefits to student groups based upon their religion, political affiliation or ideology, and by banning free speech zones, i.e., designated outdoor areas for protests or gatherings, which often are remote or with limited accessibility. Ind. Code section 21-39-8. This new law impacts ISU's current Policy 710 Use of University Facilities. We therefore propose a modification to ensure Policy 710 complies with the law.

For Policy 710, the current language remains useful and applicable. We propose the addition of one paragraph, which ensures that individuals may engage in free speech on any outdoor area of the campus unless reserved in advance, and which references Policy 910 for further information about the right of expression in University facilities.

Proposed Modification to Policy 710:

(Proposed additions appear in red and deletions appear in strikethrough.)

710.1 General Policy

The University has established policies and procedures for maximum benefit and utilization of its resources, facilities, and services. The policies and procedures include safeguards and administrative guidelines, and define the University's obligations to matriculated students, the faculty, the staff and the public.

710.1.1 Reservations. Reservations for meeting rooms in campus buildings other than Hulman Memorial Student Union, Tirey Hall, and Hulman Center may be made on forms available in the Registrar's Office. Groups not associated with the University may be charged a rental fee for the use of University rooms at established rates that are available in the Controller's Office.

710.1.2 Student Activities Space. Student Activities space of a general nature is available in Hulman Memorial Student Union, Tirey Hall, and Hulman Center. Space for social events, such as dances, movies, organizational meetings, and other activities, will be reserved through the director of the facility.

710.2 Types of University Facilities

The facilities of the University include all buildings and grounds owned or leased by the University. Space within the buildings and grounds is of three types: dedicated, semi-public, and public.

710.2.1 Dedicated Facilities. Dedicated space is defined as space used primarily to serve and support the educational, cultural residential, and recreational functions of the University. Although such areas may be used by the public, University functions have priority. Examples of such space are:

This Document is considered deliberative material that expresses an opinion and is communicated for the purposes of decision-making.

classrooms, laboratories, libraries, residence halls, parking areas, recreational facilities, intramural and athletic fields.

710.2.2 Semi-Public Facilities. The semi-public space areas are defined as space available for use by internal and external individuals and groups on a reservation-only basis. Normally, non-University organizations will pay a rental fee for the use of such space. Examples of such space are: Tilson Music Hall, activity and meeting rooms in Hulman Memorial Student Union, Tirey Hall, and Hulman Center.

710.2.3 Public Facilities. The public space areas are defined as those which accommodate pedestrian as well as vehicular traffic flow and facilities of the University open to the public. These areas are defined to include sidewalks, campus streets and drives, entrances to buildings, lobbies and corridors in classroom and office buildings and semi-public facilities, and common areas in the residence halls, Hulman Memorial Student Union and Tirey Hall.

710.3 Guidelines

710.3.1 Persons with Legitimate University Business. Every person with legitimate business at the University has the privilege of access to the public areas of the buildings and grounds during designated open hours.

710.3.2 Solicitation. Soliciting for monetary reasons or selling will not be permitted on the campus except in cases of student groups whose activities are approved through the Student Affairs Office.

710.3.3 Purpose. Use of space for purposes other than those for which it has been designated will not be allowed. Neither will individuals or groups be permitted to interrupt the use of space after it has been duly assigned, without permission of the University President or designee.

710.3.4 Reservation of Lobby Space. Space in lobbies which are designated public areas as defined by this policy may be reserved by recognized student, faculty, or staff organizations. Public groups, organizations, or agencies may reserve these areas for purposes other than recruitment for employment, or which are intended to culminate in recruitment for employment, if approved by the designated building coordinator. A listing of building coordinators is maintained in the Public Safety Office.

710.3.5 Right of University to Deny Use. The University reserves the right to deny the use of areas if it is determined that access by the group is disruptive to the normal operation of the facility or the University. If the individual in charge of a facility or function determines a situation is no longer peaceful and orderly, the assistance of the Public Safety Office will be requested.

710.3.6 Full-Time Employment Recruitment Activities. Agencies coming to campus to recruit full-time employees must make reservations for space and schedule with the Career Center. The Center will schedule personal interviews in its facilities or in semi-public areas if the facilities of the Center do not accommodate the demand.

710.3.7 Recruitment Activities in High-Traffic Area. Agencies wishing to recruit near a heavy traffic area may reserve a room at a regularly established rental rate. Reservations for facilities must be made with the person responsible for the building in which the space is located.

710.3.8 Part-Time or Temporary Employment Recruitment Activities. Agencies coming to campus to recruit students for part-time or temporary employment may make reservations for space with the student employment staff in the Human Resources Office.

710.4 University Groups and Agencies

Employee groups and officially recognized student organizations may schedule University facilities on a space available basis for the purpose of holding meetings or conducting activities consistent with the objectives of that organization. Use of any facility is determined by the University officials designated by the University President according to the following priorities.

710.4.1 Permanent Academic and Office Space. Academic department chairpersons will submit requests for space needs of a permanent nature, such as faculty offices, research, and instructional laboratories, to the appropriate academic dean's office. All such requests will then be forwarded to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs Office.

710.4.2 General Instructional Space. General classroom areas in the academic buildings are not assigned to any specific academic department. These areas are under the jurisdiction of the Registrar's Office for assignment of regularly scheduled classes and are available for meetings and study purposes only on a temporary basis.

710.4.2.1 Non-Classroom Space. General instructional space other than classrooms, such as tennis courts, athletic fields, the ISU field campus, and library study rooms, may be reserved for use by making application to the specific department to which the desired space has been assigned.

710.4.3 General Buildings and Grounds. Persons with legitimate University related business have the privilege of access to the public areas of the buildings and grounds during designated open hours. These areas are defined to include sidewalks, certain designated streets, entrances to buildings, corridors in classroom and office buildings, library reading rooms, and commons areas in the residence halls, Hulman Memorial Student Union and Tirey Hall.

710.4.4 Denial of Access. The University President, or designee, may deny access to an individual or group which disrupts the normal operation of the University.

710.5 Non-University Groups and Agencies

This Document is considered deliberative material that expresses an opinion and is communicated for the purposes of decision-making.

The University recognizes its obligation to extend its facilities to its communities-at-large under the same priorities and guidelines followed by University groups. These resources bring together students, scholars, and the public in educational and cultural settings. University projects concerned with the resolution of societal, environmental, business, or industrial problems often involve students, faculty, and representatives of the communities-at-large to mutual advantage.

710.6 Conferences and Special Events

The Center for Public Service and Community Engagement is responsible for scheduling and managing conferences held at Indiana State University and provides assistance in the major areas of conference planning and implementation.

710.7 Visiting Speakers

Indiana State University considers freedom of inquiry and discussion essential to a student's educational development. The appearance of visiting speakers is encouraged as one means by which members of the University community are provided with an opportunity to explore a variety of views and opinions.

710.7.1 Divergent Views and Subject Matter. The University recognizes that any subject or view may be repugnant or distasteful to an individual or group holding divergent views. The University further recognizes that the question of appropriateness is not determined by the subject matter as such, but by the method of presentation and the extent to which there is critical examination through disciplined inquiry by faculty and students.

710.7.1.1 Restraints. Restraints on activities connected with learning should be held to that minimum which is consistent with preserving an organized society in which peaceful, democratic means for change are utilized. Each individual has the right to express ideas and opinions; however, it must be recognized that those who have different opinions have the same rights. The exercise of rights involves acceptance of responsibility.

710.7.2 Guidelines. On the basis of these premises, Indiana State University will encourage any University recognized group of students, faculty, or staff, to invite speakers to campus subject to the following guidelines.

- a. The speaker does not advocate violation of any federal or state law.
- b. Following the speaker's presentation, adequate time should be allowed and opportunities provided for questions and comments from members of the audience. The speaker must be made aware of and agree to this condition.
- c. Neither the sponsoring group nor the speaker will indicate University support of the speaker or his/her ideas.

This Document is considered deliberative material that expresses an opinion and is communicated for the purposes of decision-making.

d. A member or members of the sponsoring group will be in attendance with the speaker to present the speaker and the topic as well as to conduct the question period.

710.7.3 Reservations of Space. In order to properly schedule the event, assure adequate facilities, ensure necessary publicity and proper procedures, the sponsoring group wishing to invite a visiting speaker to the University will make all reservations of space with appropriate University officials seven (7) days in advance of the speaker's appearance.

710.7.4 Approvals for University Speakers. Approval for visiting speakers may be obtained from the appropriate University office as follows: Office of the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs - faculty, administration and staff. Office of Student Life - SGA, fraternities, sororities, Union Board, and all other student organizations (departmental, honorary, religious, etc.), Office of Residential Life - residence halls and organizations.

710.7.5 Other Speakers. Speakers participating in regularly scheduled classes or University programs or speakers seeking state or federal offices are covered under other provisions. (See also Policy Library, Section 310.1.3, "Methods of Instruction," and Section 915.2, "Political Activities.")

710.8 Protected Expressive Activities

Nothing in this policy is designed to prevent the free expression and exchange of ideas in all University facilities whether they are dedicated spaces, semi-public, or public. Except when an outdoor area of campus has been reserved in advance, individuals may engage in protected expressive activity in any outdoor area of campus that is generally accessible to the public.

For more information, refer to the University's Right of Expression policy, Policy 910.

3c4 Proposed Modifications to Policy 726 Weather Guidelines

Rationale: As a part of a regular policy review, the administration has identified the need to update the policy. Specifically, the policy modifications re-titles the policy and updates the policy to reflect current practice.

Proposed Modifications:

(Proposed additions appear in red and deletions appear in strikethrough.)

726.1 Adverse Weather Policy Guidelines

Although weather conditions may necessitate the closing of the University, such occasions are extremely rare. The University's academic programs, courses, classes, seminars and offices will continue and remain open, except in the most unusual circumstances.

726.1.1 Decision to Close University. When a decision is made to close the University ~~— that is, a decision to cancel classes and to close University offices—~~ an official announcement will be made by ~~means of radio, and television reports~~ University Communication through email and notification of local media. When information is not conveniently available through public news media, verification of the University's status is available on the ISU Infoline (237-7777).

726.1.1.1 University President. The decision to close the University because of adverse weather conditions will be made by the University President, or designee.

726.1.2 Continuation of Services in the Event of Closure. When a decision is made to close the University because of adverse weather conditions, certain essential institutional services must continue on an emergency basis. ~~When possible, services at the following locations will be continued:-~~

- ~~• University Arena~~
- ~~• Student Health Center~~
- ~~• Facilities Management (designated staff)~~
- ~~• University Power Plant~~
- ~~• Residence Halls~~
- ~~• Public Safety Office.~~

726.1.2.1 Essential Employees. Some essential employees will be required to physically be present on campus to ensure the safety and continued operation of the University. Such designated employees will be notified in advance of this requirement by their supervisor. Examples of essential employees include: Campus Police Officers, Dispatchers, Steam Plant Operators, Grounds personnel, and other designated Maintenance staff.

726.1.2.2 Non-Essential Employees. With approval of supervisors, non-essential employees may work remotely if job duties allow for remote work during times of campus closure.

~~726.1.2.1 Supervisory Role.~~ Supervisors of these services are responsible for maintaining sufficient staff in such circumstances. Activities scheduled for Hulman Memorial Student Union and Hulman Center may require University staff coverage. Facilities for plant and animal research will be staffed by the appropriate departments. Additional emergency needs will be addressed and responded to by the appropriate vice president.

726.1.3 Tornado. When a tornado has been sighted which places the campus area in danger, a siren will be sounded. All persons on campus should immediately move inside and go to shelter areas designated on emergency procedures signs posted in campus buildings. In general, the best shelter is below ground level or in lower interior areas of reinforced concrete buildings out of sight of windows and glass doors.

726.1.3.1 Securing Facilities. Persons responsible for offices, laboratories, and other facilities should develop procedures for securing facilities against theft during a severe weather warning or drill.

3c5 Proposed Modification to Policy 910 Right of Expression

(Proposed additions appear in red and deletions appear in strikethrough. Note that the proposed modification replaces the current language of Policy 910, in full.)

Rationale: Indiana recently expanded free speech protections on public college and university campuses by preventing public colleges and universities from discriminating against or denying benefits to student groups based upon their religion, political affiliation or ideology, and by banning free speech zones, i.e., designated outdoor areas for protests or gatherings, which often are remote or with limited accessibility. Ind. Code section 21-39-8. This new law impacts ISU's current Policy 910 Right of Expression. We therefore propose a modification to ensure Policy 910 complies with the law.

Policy 910 in its current form does not address the requirements of the new Indiana law; that new law makes nearly all of current Policy 910 outdated and inapplicable. We therefore propose a new Policy 910, rewritten in its entirety, albeit incorporating relevant provisions from the current policy. The proposed modified Policy 910 tracks the requirements of the new statute. It expressly allows individuals to engage in public speech in any area of the campus, with certain limitations. It likewise affirmatively states the University's commitment to refrain from discriminating against student organizations based upon their religion, political affiliation, or ideology. It includes reasonable limitations on speech activities such as those that disrupt classrooms, hinder the transaction or completion of University business, invoke violence or the destruction of property, and other similar restrictions.

910.1 Overview of Policy

~~The right of expression is as necessary as the right of inquiry and both must be preserved as essential to the pursuit and dissemination of knowledge and truth. Consequently, University faculty, staff and students, individually and collectively, may express their views through the normal channels of communication. University faculty, staff and students also may express their views by demonstrating peacefully for concepts they wish to make known, and the University will make every reasonable effort to protect that right.~~

910.2 Reasonable Limitations

~~It is the objective of the University to provide through explicit reasonable limitations on expression, a context in which expression may be protected and in which violent actions are avoided. The University has an obligation to assure the safety of individuals, the protection of property, and the continuity of the educational process.;~~

910.2.1 Violations. ~~The following actions are defined as exceeding the limits of appropriate expression or peaceful demonstration and are in violation of University policy:~~

This Document is considered deliberative material that expresses an opinion and is communicated for the purposes of decision-making.

- ~~a. Actions which endanger the safety and well-being of individuals.~~
- ~~b. Actions which destroy property.~~
- ~~c. Actions which disrupt, by physical or auditory means, the on-going operations of the University or interfere with the rights of other individuals in their exercise of expression.~~

~~910.2.2 Opposing Views. Individuals holding views opposed to those presented by persons participating in a peaceful demonstration, protest, or other expression of attitudes are subject to the same policies.~~

910.1 Overview of Policy

The right of expression is as necessary as the right of inquiry and both must be preserved as essential to the pursuit and dissemination of knowledge and truth. Consequently, the University takes seriously its commitment to protecting the rights of students, employees, guests and other visitors to engage in free speech and protected expressive activity. Importantly, nothing in this policy shall interfere with the right of any member of the University faculty to conduct and manage their teaching and research activities in accordance with their professional judgment and the principles of academic freedom.

910.2 Applicability of Policy

This policy applies to all invited guests and visitors to the University and to the following members of the University community:

- a. Students;
- b. Student organizations;
- c. University employees, including faculty, administrators, and staff;
- d. Individuals using University resources or facilities or receiving funds administered by the University; and
- e. Other individuals when speaking or acting on behalf of the University.

910.3 Policy Statement

The University is committed to protecting the rights of the University community, invited guests and visitors to engage in free speech and protected expressive activity. Protected expressive activity includes:

- a. Conduct and speech protected by the First Amendment to the United States Constitution.
- b. Communicating by lawful verbal, written, audio visual, or electronic means.
- c. Participating in peaceful assembly.

This Document is considered deliberative material that expresses an opinion and is communicated for the purposes of decision-making.

- d. Protesting.
- e. Making speeches, including speeches of guest speakers.
- f. Distributing literature.
- g. Carrying signs.
- h. Circulating petitions.

Except when an outdoor area of campus has been reserved in advance, individuals may engage in protected expressive activity in any outdoor area of campus that is generally accessible to the public.

910.3.1. Religious, Political, or Ideological Student Organizations.

The University will not deny any benefit or discriminate against a religious, political, or ideological student organization on the basis of the organization's protected expressive activity or a requirement that a leader of the student organization:

- a. Affirm or adhere to the sincerely held beliefs of the student organization;
- b. Comply with a standard of conduct of the organization; or
- c. Further the mission or purpose of the student organization.

910.3.2. Speakers and Visitors. The University does not limit who may speak at or visit the University on the basis of their views or beliefs, nor does it endorse the views or beliefs of any speaker or visitor who does. The University likewise does not prohibit others from expressing their objections to the views and beliefs of any speaker or visitor.

910.4 Prohibited Activities

The University may regulate the time, place and manner of free speech and protected expressive activities if necessary to ensure the safety of individuals, the protection of property, and the continuation of University functions. To that end, individuals engaged in protected expressive activities must comply with all federal, state, and local laws, and with the following restrictions. Expressive activities may not, whether by physical, auditory, or other means:

- a. Significantly hinder the protected expressive activity of another individual or group or prevent the communication of a message by that individual or group.
- b. Prevent the transaction of business at a lawful meeting, gathering, or procession including by:
 - i. Engaging in fighting, violence, or other unlawful behavior; or

This Document is considered deliberative material that expresses an opinion and is communicated for the purposes of decision-making.

- ii. Physically blocking or threatening violence to prevent an individual from attending, listening to, viewing, or participating in a protected expressive activity.
- b. Endanger the safety and well-being of individuals.
- c. Result in the destruction of property.
- d. Constitute harassment.

Examples of prohibited activities include substantial disruption to classroom instruction, interference with the normal functioning of the University, interference with the flow of pedestrian or vehicular traffic, disruption to scheduled programs or events, and similar activities.

It cannot be emphasized more that physical violence, threats or implied threats of physical violence, intimidation, and destruction of property are strictly prohibited. The University reserves the right to ban any individual from its property and facilities who engages in such activity.

Nothing in this section is designed to interfere with or prohibit members of the University community from spontaneously and contemporaneously assembling and distributing literature.

910.5 Sanctions

Violations of this policy by any member of the University community will be addressed in accordance with applicable University policies and procedures, which may include disciplinary action, up to and including suspension, termination or expulsion from the University.

Any person who is not a member of the University community and who violates this policy may be removed from University property. The University reserves the right to pursue legal remedies, including trespassing.

Anyone who is suspected of violating the law will be referred to law enforcement and may be subject to criminal penalties.

3c6 Proposed Modifications to Policy 955 Tobacco, Vapor, and Smoke Free Campus

Rationale: This is a clean-up of policy as all designated smoking areas on campus have been removed, effective July 2022. The proposed changes delete reference to designated smoking areas of campus.

Proposed Modification:

(Proposed deletions appear in strikethrough.)

955.1 Overview of Policy

Indiana State University is committed to the health and wellness of its students, faculty, and staff. This commitment is demonstrated by the Student Health Promotion and Campus Recreation programs coordinated by the Division of Student Affairs by the efforts of the Employee Assistance Program coordinated through the Office of Human Resources, and by curricula and activities in several academic units throughout the University.

Documented research has substantiated the health problems caused by electronic smoking devices, hookah, smoking, tobacco products, and passive smoke. The General Assembly of the State of Indiana adopted the Indiana Clean Indoor Air Law which is applicable to all state entities in order to address concern for the health and wellness of all Indiana government employees and students. This law sets forth minimum standards but allows state agencies to adopt more stringent rules if desired. Both the City of Terre Haute and Vigo County have passed ordinances that prohibit or limit smoking in public places and places of employment. The U.S. government has enacted restrictions on the sale of cigarettes, e-cigarettes, and other devices in recognition of the health risks associated with smoke and tobacco products.

955.2 Definitions

955.2.1 “Electronic Smoking Device” means any product containing or delivering nicotine or any other substance intended for human consumption that can be used by a person in any manner for the purpose of inhaling vapor or aerosol from the product. The term includes any such device, whether manufactured, distributed, marketed, or sold as an e-cigarette, e-cigar, e-pipe, e-hookah, or vape pen, or under any other product name or descriptor.

955.2.2 “Hookah” means a water pipe and any associated products and devices used to produce fumes, smoke, and/or vapor from the burning of material, including but not limited to, tobacco, shisha, or other plant matter.

955.2.3 “Smoking” means inhaling, exhaling, burning, or carrying any lighted or heated cigar, cigarette, pipe, hookah, or any other lighted or heated tobacco or plant product intended for inhalation, including marijuana, whether natural or synthetic, in any manner or in any form. “Smoking” also includes the use of an electronic smoking device, which creates an aerosol or vapor, in any manner or in any form, or the use of any oral smoking device for the purpose of circumventing the prohibition of smoking in this Policy.

955.2.4 “Tobacco Product” means any substance containing tobacco leaf, including but not limited to cigarettes, cigars, pipe tobacco, hookah tobacco, snuff, chewing tobacco, dipping tobacco, bidis, blunts, clove cigarettes, or any other preparation of tobacco; and any product or formulation of matter containing biologically active amounts of nicotine that is manufactured, sold, offered for sale, or otherwise distributed with the expectation that the product or matter will be introduced into the human body by inhalation; but does not include any cessation product specifically approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration for use in treating nicotine or tobacco dependence.

955.3 Prohibition of Sales

The sale of electronic smoking devices, hookah, smoking and tobacco products is prohibited on university-owned, operated, or leased property

955.4 Prohibition of Electronic Smoking Devices, Hookah, Smoking, and Tobacco Products Use

The use of electronic smoking devices, hookah, smoking, and tobacco products is prohibited on university-owned, operated, or leased property.

955.4.1 Exception for Private Vehicles ~~and Designated Areas~~. The use of legal electronic smoking devices, hookah, smoking, and/or tobacco products is permitted in the enclosed cabin of privately owned vehicles, ~~and in designated smoking areas on campus. Designated smoking areas will be gradually phased out in a manner determined by the administration as use diminishes.~~

955.4.2 Exception for Inhaler Devices for Medical Use. Legal use of an inhaler device for medical purposes is not prohibited.

955.4.3 Other Exceptions. Any other exceptions for the use of electronic smoking devices, hookah, smoking, and/or tobacco products on university-owned, operated, or leased property will be limited to specific university-sponsored research in a controlled laboratory setting ~~or upon approval by the President.~~

955.5 Enforcement

Enforcement of this policy will depend on the cooperation of all faculty, staff, and students not only to comply with the policy, but also to encourage others to comply, in order to promote a healthy environment in which to work, study, and live. Peer ambassadors can assist with enforcement by providing policy education and connection to cessation resources to persons who violate the policy.

955.6 Violations

Policy violations may be reported to the ISU Police Department. ISU Police will forward alleged policy violations by employees to the Office of Human Resources for potential disciplinary action under Policy 562. Information about student violations of the policy will be referred to the Dean of Students for potential disciplinary action under the Code of Student Conduct.

3i Naming of Bailey College of Engineering and Technology

This item requests Board of Trustee approval to rename the College of Technology the Bailey College of Engineering and Technology. The naming of the Bailey College of Engineering and Technology is in recognition of an $8,000,000 gift to create three new endowed funds in support of student scholarships, faculty, and the Dean of the College.

Steve Bailey is a 1971 graduate of Indiana State University with a degree in automotive technology. Steve had a successful five-decade career in the diesel parts and service industry. He began his career as general manager of Columbus Diesel Supply and was appointed President in 1977. Steve moved around the Midwest, serving in leadership roles with Diesel Injection Service, Co. In 1994 he was named President of Diesel Injection Service Co., Louisville, and all associated branches. From 2014 until his retirement in 2019, Steve served as CEO of DieselUSA Group. In 1995, Steve earned the highest honor in his industry, the Henry B. Sirotek Memorial Award, presented to a member whose efforts have produced significant advances within the association or industry. Steve currently serves on the Board of Directors for the ISU Foundation.

Gloria Bailey attended the Columbus School of Art and Design in Columbus, OH. She had a successful career in interior architecture design until pivoting in the 1990s to take a leadership role at Diesel Injection Services. As Director of Facilities at Diesel Injection Service, Co., Gloria helped acquire multiple new locations in three states and implemented upgrades and repairs. She returned to school to learn human resources and worked with the company attorney and other professional HR colleagues to write an employee handbook and create training programs to retain and elevate employees from within the company. She retired in 2014 as Vice President of Human Resources and Facilities of DieselUSA Group.

Steve and Gloria have a history of involvement with Indiana State and the College of Technology. Steve admired the work of former Dean Dr. Nesli Alp to gain ABET accreditation for thirteen programs within the College. Through multiple conversations with Steve and Gloria, they understand the importance of having “Engineering” in the name of the College to reflect the vitality of our programs and recruit quality faculty and students to Indiana State.

Steve and Gloria Bailey’s transformational gift will make an immediate impact on Indiana State University and provide critical funding for a long-term strategic plan to ensure the sustainability and growth of the College. Their gift will create three new endowed funds, each with specific purposes that fund important initiatives in the College. The Bailey College of Engineering and Technology Scholars Endowment will fund scholarships for incoming freshman majoring in a field within the College. This endowment will award fifty $3,000 scholarships annually, renewable for the sophomore year, to students beginning in fall 2023. The Bailey Faculty Fellows Endowment will provide annual funding to award high-achieving faculty and recruit new, nationally competitive faculty to the College. The endowment will award five $10,000 faculty fellowships each year beginning in the fall 2023. Finally, the Bailey College of Engineering and Technology Dean’s Endowed Fund for Excellence will provide support for outreach with industry partners, additional scholarship needs, program support, and other initiatives deemed necessary by the Dean.

The amount of the gift for this naming opportunity is consistent with the Indiana State University Naming Policy.

Recommendation: Leadership recommends approval of the naming of the Bailey College of Engineering and Technology.

Rationale: Members of the University community are required to complete a conflict of interest disclosure statement and await a decision by the ISU Board of Trustees before any contract or other financial transaction takes place in which the employee has a pecuniary interest.

Heather LeBrun is the Clinical Education Coordinator for the IU School of Medicine. Her husband, Monty LeBrun, is a practice patient. He works on an as-needed basis to fill in for regular practice patients. Practice patients are compensated at $25 per hour.

Recommendation: Acceptance of Annual Conflict of Interest Disclosure Statement from employee Heather LeBrun.
